ACHS to consider fall referendum

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

The Antioch Community High School Board of Education has slated a special meeting to decide whether or not to put another referendum on the ballot this November. The meeting is scheduled for Aug. 30 at 7:30 p.m. at the school.

The board discussed the relative merits of such a move at last Thursday's regular meeting. However, it decided to hold a special meeting to continue the discussion after the State Superintendent makes a final decision regarding the Lake Villa Unit School District plan.

At this time, the future of the unit district plan is questionable after Lake County Superintendent Ed Gonwa recommended the plan be shelved. Gonwa felt that the financial impact on Millburn School District and Antioch Consolidated School District was too great to consider the unit district.

ACHS Business Manager Bill Ahlers went on record against the referendum idea. "I would have great difficulty recommending it at this time," he said when asked by school board members. "Operating at the level we are at now — I would have great difficulty recommending that."

However, board members voice concerns about next year's state funding. The belief of some board members is that while state funding is adequate this year, next year, after the election, there may be a reduction.

"I'm looking down the road," said Board Member Phil Delany. "Before we say no, let's have some discussion. I think the funds may be necessary."

"I think we had a huge list of things we wanted to put into See SCHOOL page A10

Rescue squad forced to make longer trips

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

As a result of a state ruling sent by Victory Hospital, the Antioch Rescue Squad's resource hospital, the squad will no longer be able to take patients to St. Therese's Satellite Center. According to a rescue squad volunteer, patients are now required to be taken to hospitals only.

According to Leslie Stein-Spencer, chief of emergency services and highway services with the Illinois Department of Public Health (IDPH), a ruling has been in place since 1981 which requires ambulances to transfer patients to a licensed hospital facility only.

It is irrelevant whether or not the emergency squad is volunteer and not dependent on tax dollars. "It does not make a difference," said Stein-Spencer. "Any ambulance must take a patient to a licensed facility." See RESCUE SQUAD page A10

Assessment appeal petitions are available

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

Antioch residents interested in appealing their most recent assessments are invited to join in a class action appeal with their neighbors. Petitions are now circulating and must be returned to the Lake County Board of Review by Sept. 15.

The petitions are a result of numerous disgruntled property owners who received greatly increased assessments. Those hardest hit are owners with waterfront property.

"Escalating property taxes are making it nearly impossible for See APPEAL page A10

Forest Preserve OK's baseball concept

ALEC JUNGE
Staff Reporter

Lake County Forest Preserve Finance Committee approved the concept plan for baseball fields at the Sun Lake Forest Preserve, but many issues remain before the full board considers the final plan.

The Forest Preserve has agreed to work with the Village of Lake Villa on an intergovernmental agreement allowing the baseball fields at the Sun Lake Forest Preserve.

The concerns range from traffic and noise to sewer and water, according to Steve Messerli, executive director of the Forest Preserve. Also the issue is if the Forest Preserve should even allow active sports use such as baseball fields.

"It's a philosophical issue with some board members," Messerli said. "Some question whether there should be active uses in a forest preserve environment."

The preserve has allowed passive fields in preserves but not fields designed for major use.

Lake Villa Township Baseball League has been seeking playing fields on the Sun Lake Forest Preserve since 1991. The three-acre site is located off Grass Lake Road west of Deep Lake Road.

Lake Villa Village Board stepped in for the league this spring and the process has gone forward since. The Forest Preserve has felt more comfortable dealing with the village and the baseball league has a powerful ally to speak on its behalf.

Last week, the board asked Village Attorney John Mullen to ask for a 20-year lease with an option to renew for another 20 years. The village wants the league to be assured if it does acquire the site the league can control the site for a lengthy time period.

Messerli cautioned the tough part is ahead. "We have our expectations for the site and they have their set and both will have to meet."

The original agreement for the purchase of the Sun Lake site by the Forest Preserve required them to work with the village on an intergovernmental agreement for three playing fields.

At this point it's up to the village to show how the structures such as the three diamonds, a concession stand and public address system is acceptable to the full board.

The village is working on a response to the Forest Preserve draft of an intergovernmental agreement.

The biggest concerns for the League were the length of the contract and guaranteeing the League could schedule its games before others could use the site.

The circus will come to town

Always a treat for young and old, the Kelly-Miller Brothers three ring circus is coming to town. Sponsored by the Antioch Jaycees and the Advertiser Network, this circus promises good old-fashioned fun.

A free "preview" of the circus can be seen at 7:30 a.m. on Sept. 6, when the animals will be unloaded at the circus site (Antioch Upper Grade School grounds). The tents are scheduled to go up between 8:30 and 9:00 a.m. A guide will be furnished for children of elementary school age.

Two performances are planned and tickets can be purchased at First Chicago Bank, First National Bank of Antioch, the Advertiser, and the Antioch Chamber of Commerce. Residents are advised to buy tickets early so more of the proceeds of the circus can stay in the Antioch community.

"Our business is built on tradition," said co-owner and manager David Rawls.

Bike-a-thon for cancer nears

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

The second annual Bike-a-thon, in memory of Bill Brook is slated for Sunday, Sept. 25. The event begins at 8 a.m., starting from Centennial Park and ending at 1 p.m. Proceeds from this event will go to the Lake County Unit of the American Cancer Society.

The event is held in memory of William E. Brook, who contracted and died of cancer in 1992. Brook was a lifelong resident of Antioch as well as a community leader. There is a $5 registration fee.

The Bike-a-thon is open to all ages and is being sponsored by the Antioch Jaycees and Antioch Schwinn Cyclery.

Call Al Robbins or Teri Chipman at 395-3111.

Township roads to be blacktopped this fall

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

Roads located on the south shore of Loon Lake will be reconstructed and blacktopped this fall. Skokie Valley Asphalt has received the bid and the work should be completed late September or early October.

"Everything hinges on our timetable," said Antioch Township Road Commissioner Mark Ring. Ring said that Villa Rica Road will be done.

However, further on in the subdivision, proposed road work plans are up in the air. "We have a right-of-way dispute," said Ring.

Also, some trees will need to be removed before work can proceed. "The trees are in the township right-of-way," said Ring.

"We don't want to take down the trees. It is for the safety of the public. We have a private contractor to do the work."

Fox River Springs Subdivision was also slated to have road reconstruction and to be blacktopped. However, because of the state's bridge work, that project has been put on a back burner. "The bridge work would conflict with our project," said Ring. His major concern was causing additional traffic problems at the bridge site.

The state has been working on the bridge all summer and anyone passing over faces lengthy delays. At this time, only one lane of traffic can go over the bridge at a time, causing huge back-ups of traffic.

Tentative budget reviewed by Dist. 34 school board

Antioch Consolidated School District Board of Education reviewed a tentative budget at its last school board meeting. Dr. Donald Skidmore, the district's new business manager, reviewed the budget with the board.

The total of the tentative budget for fiscal year 1994-95 is $8,301,753. This represents a decrease from last year's expenditures of $8,495,231.

However, this change is a bit misleading since last year's budget included a one time expenditure for land acquisition. Removing that item along with the bond and interest fund from last year's budget, the tentative budget is actually up 5.58 percent.

The largest increase is from expenditures in the Education Fund. This increase is 5.62 percent.

The Equalized Assessed Evaluation (EAV) for the district will increase from $233,345,006 to $253,179,332, an increase of 8.5 percent. However, a tax cap of 2.7 percent this year will stop the district from taking advantage of the higher EAV.

The district is also anticipating a loss of state aid. It is predicted that state aid will decrease from $821,000 to $760,000, a loss of $61,000.

As a result of the new budget, it is expected that the new tax rate will be 2.4756. This represents a decrease of roughly 10 cents per $100 of EAV.

Gang awareness

Crane says Democrats must cut $9B from crime bill

Eighth Dist. Congressman Philip M. Crane said President Clinton and congressional Democrats must agree to cuts of $9 billion in social spending and dropping the ban on automatic weapons if they want to gain bipartisan support for the crime bill.

"It is very difficult to understand why the president insists upon adding billions of dollars in taxpayer money to the huge deficit for social projects that don't belong in the crime bill," Crane declared.

"Midnight basketball may well cut down the crime rate, but its funding is not a function of the federal government," the congressman reported. "That is an area for local jurisdictions.

"I certainly don't believe the spending of $100 million—which the bill calls for—to promote dance programs, arts and crafts is what the taxpayer views as crime fighting legislation," Crane said.

The congressman noted that House Speaker Thomas Foley has been quoted as saying the crime bill can be cut by hundreds of millions of dollars.

"That isn't a significant enough reduction. Crime bill social spending must be cut by $9 billion if it is to gain bipartisan support," Congressman Crane declared.

County schedules blood pressure testing

The Lake County Health Dept. offers blood pressure testing and education for lowering the risk of heart disease for adults at no charge to Lake County residents.

Testing will be held at the following times and places. No appointment is necessary.

Fox Lake: Fox Lake State Bank, 55 E. Grand Ave.; Sept. 2, 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Round Lake Park: Avon Twp. Office, 433 E. Washington; Sept. 6, 9 to 11 a.m.

Waukegan: Lake County Building, 18 N. County St.; Sept. 6, 9 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

Round Lake Beach: Eagle

Foods, 400 W. Rollins Rd.; Sept. 28, 2 to 4 p.m.

Individuals will be counseled on ways to lower their risk for heart disease by controlling high blood pressure, high blood cholesterol and stopping smoking. Controlling these risk factors can greatly reduce the chance of having a stroke or heart attack. Recommendations are given for medical follow-up and information is provided on other community resources for reducing the risk for heart disease. For further information, contact the Have A Heart Program, Lake County Health Dept., at 360-5917.

Police Beat

Persons charged with a crime are innocent until proven guilty in a court of law.

ANTIOCH

Warrant arrests

The Antioch Police Department assisted the Lake County Sheriff's Department in making a warrant arrest Friday, Aug. 19. Michael J. Comstock Jr., age 30, of Arlington Heights was charged with Deceptive Practices when stopped at the corner of Route 173 and Second Ave.

Anthony V. Giordana, age 26, of Antioch was arrested on an active warrant after being spotted by officers at D & G's Tavern on Aug. 16. Giordana was unable to post bond.

Hoodrider arrested

Jeffrey D. Montori, age 24, of Round Lake Beach, was arrested on Aug. 17 for criminal damage to property and disorderly conduct. In an apparent domestic dispute, Montori punched a window until it shattered and refused to get off the hood of the car even when the driver attempted to drive down Route 59.

DUI

Paul A. Gofron, age 40, of Lake Villa was arrested and charged with driving under the influence of alcohol Aug. 17. Gofron was observed driving off the road onto the shoulder, crossing the centerline, and ignoring no passing zone signs. He was released on bond.

Natalie P. Fields, age 24, of Antioch, was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol on Aug. 14, after she became involved in an accident in the Waterfalls Restaurant parking lot. Fields received facial injuries to her left eye and mouth, and was released on bond.

Telephones stolen

On Aug. 16, person(s) unknown removed two cordless telephones from a parked car. The value of one of the phones is $86.79, while the other phone was defective.

Office thief

On Aug. 16, person(s) unknown removed $20 in cash, and $26 worth of stamps from an office desk drawer at the Windmill Creek office which was located in one of the model homes. Police are investigating.

Money stolen

Person(s) unknown broke into the Coke machine located at the Antioch Car Wash on Aug. 16 and took approximately $100 in change. No damage was observed and it is believed the thief had a master key.

Snake thief nabbed with goods

ALEC JUNGE
Staff Reporter

A Lake Villa man had something in his pants he shouldn't have—a snake.

From the time they walked in the store, the manager at Dee's House of Pets knew something was strange about two customers who acted peculiar when they asked to look at snakes.

According to police reports, two young men came in and asked to look at the snakes.

The manager watched closely as they looked at snakes for about a half-hour.

Later in the afternoon, the two returned and again the manager waited on them. As the manager left to wait on other customers, he noticed the two looking nervous as they said "good-bye".

The manager looked into the snake cages and discovered one, a 10-foot python, was missing.

The manager went out to the car and asked the two for the snake back. Joel Hansen, 20, of Lake Villa, pulled the snake out of his pants and said he would pay for it.

Police smelled alcohol on Hansen's breath and he had a blood alcohol reading of .09.

He was charged with theft and minor consumption of alcohol and was released on a $75 bond.

Teen killed in crash on Route 173

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

A roadside memorial at the corner of Route 173 and Harden Street serves as a daily reminder to those passing by of the accident which took Jerome Katzel's life. Katzel, age 19, of Antioch, was killed when the car he was traveling in careened into an oncoming Thelen's cement truck.

Katzel, a former Antioch Community High School student, was employed at the Taco Bell restaurant in Antioch. He also gave private music lessons.

The driver of the blue Ford Escort Katzel was traveling in was Jennifer Untiedt. Untiedt, age 17, of Spring Grove was attempting to make a left turn from Harden Street to Route 173.

Untiedt told police that she had stopped at the stop sign and proceeded to turn left. She said she never saw the oncoming truck.

In an attempt to avoid an accident, Untiedt accelerated. However, the truck hit the passenger side of the car where Katzel was sitting.

Untiedt was taken to St. Therese Hospital in Waukegan where she was released the next day. She was also ticketed for failure to yield the right of way.

Funeral services were held for Katzel last Saturday at the Fairfield Road Baptist Church in Lake Villa. Katzel leaves behind a brother, Christopher; his mother, Lana Sessum of Antioch; and his father, Norman Katzel of Chicago.

Mourners erected a memorial, on Route 173 and Harden Street, at the site where Jerome Katzel, 19, lost his life.

Infant run over at Cedar Lake Park

ALEC JUNGE
Staff Reporter

A driver at Cedar Lake Park ran into a 1-year-old boy sending the child to the hospital.

According to police reports, Hector Caicedo, 28, of Chicago, ran into Joe Gonzalez Jr., of Chicago, in one of the roads at the park at 6:18 p.m. on Aug. 13.

Witnesses claim Caicedo took off quickly from the grass area to the road and swerved but still hit the young child. They reported hearing screech marks. The officer found a mark about 5 feet in length.

Gonzalez was taken to St. Therese hospital where he was treated and released. The hospital reports the victim as being 3-years old.

When police questioned Caicedo, the officer saw an empty can of beer in the car and put it on the hood of the car. He then arrested Caicedo.

When he came back to the car he saw the can missing. He asked the passenger, his wife, Evelyn Caicedo, where the can was and she didn't cooperate. He then arrested her on obstructing a peace officer and while he was taking her to the car she continued to resist.

As the officer was pulling her to the squad car she tried to pull away. On the ride into the station both Caicedos were yelling at the officer.

Hector Caicedo was charged with failing to follow minimum speed requirements, no valid registration and failure to yield to a pedestrian. His wife was charged with resisting arrest and obstructing a peace officer.

Richmond resident dies under lawn mower

When a neighbor noticed something suspicious looking, McHenry County Sheriff's police were immediately notified.

The Wonder Lake Fire and Rescue Department followed police Tuesday morning shortly after 9 a.m. to the home of Adrienne Semple of 7737 Barnard Mill Road.

There they discovered an overturned riding lawn mower and the 57-year-old resident underneath it.

Semple was deceased upon the officers arrival.

Although an investigation is ongoing, police as well as the McHenry County Coroners office report there is probably no foul play involved.—by

Sometimes the questions mates pose need no reply

Where is it?

I will begin this tidbit by saying I am basically a fairly organized person and definitely a creature of habit. This November, hubby and I will be celebrating 32 years of marriage, and with each passing year I notice that we often ask each other silly, dumb questions that certainly do not need asking.

In my opinion, I think hubby is more prone to ask these types of questions than I am. However, this is my column and therefore my opinion. If given the opportunity, I am sure he would have a different version.

I attribute this type of question-asking to the fact that after knowing/living with someone for a long period of time, one already knows the answers and viewpoints on the important issues if life. In an effort to occasionally hear the voice of one's lifetime mate, people may resort to this type of interrogation. So, now, the "where is it" story.

As we were packing for Eagle River, I told hubby I resisted cutting into a watermelon that was purchased the day before so we could take it along to Eagle River. I have to stress here that we have lived in our Antioch home for 26 years. During that time, you will find my melon treat in one of two places—maybe setting on the counter for a short while or in the fridge. When it was time to pack up, he posed the question, "Where's the watermelon?"—I must admit I was not in the most patient and congenial frame of mind.

Thus my reply, "It's in the bathroom." Now one would think since he posed the question and I gave the answer (ridiculous as it may be), he would have gone to the bathroom to get the melon. Instead, he went directly to the fridge and, "bingo," the watermelon sat in its entirety waiting to be carved in the beautiful northwoods!

In my opinion, this proved he definitely knew the answer to the question in the first place!

Ah, men, you can't live with them and you can't live without them. Ah, women, you can't live with them and you can't live without them. Read on. To continue:

I told the above story to my dear friend and partner in crime, Sylvia, from the city. We naturally had a "What if" field day with it. In hindsight, I could have responded in many different ways or have done many different things.

For example, I should by now have been able to anticipate Jim's totally unnecessary question. This is not the first time, nor will it be the last, this scenario has been played. If I had a brain, I would have first put the watermelon in the bathroom, then tell him to please pack it. When he asked "Where's the Watermelon?" I could have given my same nasty, sarcastic reply. He would have gone to the fridge.

However, Mr. Melon would not have been there. He would repeat the question. Again, I would give the same answer. He would eventually go to the bathroom, find the melon and wonder (for the 10 millionth time) why he married such a crazy mixed-up woman, never suspecting his part in why the melon was placed in the bathroom in the first place. When he asked "Where's the Melon?" I could have said, "I don't know, find the beef first!" I know I'm sick. Hubby isn't really any worse than I am, but like I said, this is my column and I definitely don't want to live without him—on most days!

Stay well

I would like to extend a stay-well wish to Delores Mulcahy of Antioch, who is doing fine after a recent medical emergency. Delores would like to thank her loving husband, Ed, and the wonderful Antioch Rescue Squad for their magnificent help when she desperately needed them. She encourages everyone to support the fund-raising efforts of the squad whenever possible, as it is wonderful having them available when needed.

Special lady

I would like to wish a very special and happy belated Aug. 25 birthday to a very special lady—Lois McDonna. Happy birthday, Aunt Lois, and many more to come. This wish is extended to you by Lizard and readers and your many friends and family members who love you.

Circus time

Is there anything more exciting to people, both young and old, than a circus? Once again, the Antioch Jaycees are sponsoring the Kelly Miller Brothers Circus. There will be an afternoon performance at 4:30 p.m. and an evening performance at 7:30 p.m., on Tuesday, Sept. 6.

The big top will be set up on the grounds of the Antioch Upper Grade School, located off Rte. 173 and Tiffany Rd. in Antioch.

Advance tickets are available at the First National Bank of Antioch, First Chicago Bank and the Antioch Chamber of Commerce. Advance ticket prices are $6 for adults and $4 for children. The at-the-door prices are slightly higher. If you plan to attend the circus, try to purchase your tickets in advance. This is a way to keep more of the money in the community, as a larger percent of advance ticket sales will go to the Jaycees and thus help support the many fine programs sponsored by them.

Pocket money

If you like children, would like a little extra pocket money and only work a couple of hours each day during the school year, call Grass Lake School at 395-1550 and inquire about the noontime supervisor position that is available. The approximate hours are 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. I used to work at Grass Lake School in this very capacity "many moons ago," and I thoroughly enjoyed it.

It was fun listening to the kids chitchat over lunch and then watch them at play outdoors before returning to class. It was

the school day. If interested, contact the school for further information.

Special visitors

As in the past, Vivian Brausam of Antioch enjoyed visiting with her brother and sister-in-law, Frank and Marie Alex of Fort Myers, Fla. Frank and Marie are former Fox Lake residents and former owners of Alex's Pizza in Fox Lake. Every summer they return to our neck of the woods for about three months and stay in the beautiful Libertyville home of their daughter, Sharon Kramer.

They definitely kept Vivian hopping this year, as usual, as they mutually enjoyed many social events—one of which was an overnight trip to Galena.

It is always nice to be surrounded by family, and as usual their time here passed all too quickly. However, a little birdie told me come winter Vivian just may take a trip to their neck of the woods to continue the fun activities. That a girl, Viv, and make sure you give us all the Florida highlights upon your return.

Definite plus

One of the many benefits of being a school board member is being exposed to some wonderful reading material revolving around education. I read the following three notes in a recent IASB Journal. These short statements are definitely food for thought that I will now share with you—

"You can't do anything about the length of your life, but you can do something about its width and depth."

"We make a living by what we get, but we make a life by what we give."

"Every adult needs a child to teach. It is the way adults learn."

My favorite of the three is the last one. It, in my opinion, is wonderful food for thought, as they all are.

Thank you

Due to their own fund-raising efforts and the wonderful generosity of the Grass Lake School PTO, the Junior Girl Scout Troop 1336 enjoyed a beautiful camping trip exploring the caves of Kentucky. Nine girls, ages 9 to 12, and three adult chaperones participated in this trip the last weekend of July.

The Scouts and the troop leaders would like to extend a great big thank you to the Grass Lake School PTO for their generous donation which definitely helped make this planned trip become a reality.

Board meeting

Many items were discussed and/or approved at the Aug. 9 meeting of the Grass Lake School Board of Education. Due to the resignation of Cynthia Marquart, Mark Franzen moved up to the office of president and did a fine job officiating at the meeting. The board then elected Marie Brausam as the vice-president and Linda Boerman as board secretary.

The board approved the hiring of Amy S. Rudich as first grade teacher and Patricia Holm for the kindergarten position. The board accepted the resignation of reading teacher Georgia Turk. Norma Rubash will be establishing a part-time gifted program, and the board voted to contract with Music Education Services, Inc. to provide a band program.

Discussion was held concerning the establishment of the District Short and Long Range Planning Committee and attendance to the IASB school board convention.

Committee reports were given for SEDOL, Recognition and Playground. Supt. Jim Beveridge presented the tentative budget to the board, and it will be on display at the school until the budget hearing on Tuesday, Sept. 13, which is the next scheduled meeting of the board.

One last reminder that anyone interested in applying for the board vacancy must do so by Aug. 26, prior to the close of the school day.

Attention comic, card collectors

Antioch now has three shops specializing just in comics and cards, definitely the town for the serious collector.

"Gold comic books, preproduction promotional cards, singles, back issues, back issues, complete card sets, silver comics, autographed cards, 1st edition..." If reading these terms causes your heart to beat faster and you start gasping for breath, then you're obviously an addicted collector. The Antioch community must have a large population of comic/card collectors to entice three shops dedicated to collecting into our small town. Collecting has come a long, long way from the "piece of gum and give cards" that originally enticed kids to start collections. People dedicated to cards and comics are serious about their collections and can spot a valuable card instantly. The constant changes in team players (Michael Jordan, the baseball player) makes this a hobby that requires an up-to-date knowledge of sports and trends.

Well known to our area is Powerhouse Cards & Comics, located on the corner of Main St. and North Ave., which celebrated its fourth anniversary. Featuring cards for all sports and non-sports, they offer cards in singles, packs and sets.

Personalized service is a top priority at Powerhouse. They offer a "customer pull and search" where they will search through each new comic shipment and pull out comics that customers have requested. This way, your requests are filled without the daily hassles of stopping in to check the racks yourself.

Choose among thousands of comic back issues and latest new releases. Comics are sold with a free bag and board to help preserve the comic. For information on the latest in cards and comics, give Jason a call at Powerhouse.

They're open seven days a week and most evenings.

The Gallery of Stars, on Lake St., will be celebrating its first anniversary in September. Offering a large selection of sports cards, T-shirts, hats and pennants makes it simple to find a great gift for the young or old collector.

The Gallery occasionally will allow card trading. Mark and Bill would be happy to explain how trading works and welcome you to stop in to browse. Sport cards are available in singles, packs and boxes, depending on your need. Open seven days a week for your convenience.

Antioch welcomes its newest shop, "Big Gun Enterprises," located on Main St. Working jointly with Mortari Comics of Waukegan, Robin offers all sports and non-sports cards, along with back and new issues of comics.

Card collecting isn't just for the guys. If sports aren't your bag, how about Power Rangers, Lion King, Minnie & Me and other Disney collections. You'll find preproduction promotional cards for the serious collector.

You'll notice pennants hanging around the shop. They carry pennants for every professional team—at the last count there were 109.

Promotional give-aways might include gold or silver comics. At their September grand opening, you might win an autographed Shaquille O'Neal collector card. Being in tune to the needs of their customers, they are open seven days a week.

Editor's note: Shop Antioch is a weekly newsletter showcasing Antioch's merchants and retailers. Prepared and written by Barbara Porch of Choosey Child.

Community makes auction a success

The Antioch Rescue Squad gave a special thank you out to all the Antioch businesses and individuals whom every year donate unique, quality items to the Antioch Rescue Squad for their annual auction which was held, Aug. 7, in conjunction with the Antioch Lions Club Chicken Barbecue.

This year's auction could not have been such a huge success if it were not for the generosity of the bidders who came from all around to offer their own support by buying items from the auction and the "Treasure Booth" run by the Antioch Jr. Women's Club every year.

Since the Rescue Squad receives no tax support and is a 100 percent volunteer organization, they exist solely by the proceeds of its annual auction and from donations taken throughout the year by residents and non-residents alike. The Squad thanked the community for their generous support and is proud to be able to reciprocate in the form of professional, unbiased, quality emergency care any time of day or night.

Host families sought for international students

American Host families are being sought for high school students from Western and Eastern Europe, Asia, South America, Australia and the former Soviet Union for the 1994-95 school year in a program sponsored by the American Intercultural Student Exchange (AISE).

These exceptional students, ages 15 through 18, will arrive in the United States in August, attend a local high school, and return to their home countries in June of 1995. The students, all fluent in English, have been carefully screened by the local representatives in their home countries, and have their own medical insurance and spending money.

Antioch Rotary Club welcomes new teachers

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

The Antioch Rotary Club held its annual welcome luncheon for new teachers and administrators. The luncheon is just another example of the club's dedication to education.

"I think this is the largest luncheon we have had," said club member Jim Polley. "There are roughly 50 new teachers this year."

Besides welcoming new teachers every year, the Antioch Rotary Club sponsors foreign exchange students, makes regular donations to all area schools, and participates in numerous programs. The club also sponsors various scholarships to Antioch students.

Dr. Radakovich, principal of Antioch Community High School, was on hand with his group of new teachers and administrators. "We were very pleased with the turnout," he told the school board at their regular meeting.

Principal Sharon Henriksen of St. Peter School was unable to attend the luncheon since she is recovering from heart surgery. However, St. Pete's has several new teachers including Elizabeth Bloom who will be teaching seventh grade and Katy Diaz who is the new music teacher.

AARP prepares for new season

All members of the Board of Directors of Antioch Chapter 387 of the American Assn. of Retired Persons were present on Aug. 16 to assist Pres. Genevieve Horsch prepare an agenda for the coming year. Many important matters were discussed and decisions made on types of programs for each meeting. It promises to be an exciting year for members who should plan to attend all meetings in order to avoid missing even one of the special events scheduled.

Programs showing the new schedule of events will be distributed at the first meeting on Sept. 13. This meeting will have a special guest speaker and the chapter will serve sandwiches and coffee.

New members are always welcome and may join the chapter now by paying dues of $3, which will cover 1995 as well as the remaining months of 1994. Come to the meetings and discover what an active chapter Antioch has.

Weekly artisans added to Antique Mall

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

If you have never stopped in to the Park Avenue Antique Mall, you are really missing something. Besides the 12,000-square-foot of antique treasures and the ambience of an English Manor, this shop will soon be offering different local artisans to share their craft on a weekly basis.

The mall is, in reality, seven different shops under one roof. Located in the historic old Ford Motor Company, which was established in 1900, the mall is a series of completely different rooms, including an attic for those who love to rummage.

"People can enjoy the different shops," said owner Brenda Case. "People just love to go in and out the doors. Often, they compare it to Richmond."

Some of the highlights of the mall include The Military Room. The room features all sorts of military memorabilia with marching music to accompany your visit there.

The mall has a "kitchen room" with kitchen items and appliances from history. Case recently acquired an additional 1,000-square feet, in which has added even more space and more displays to the mall.

And, the space is needed. Case is particularly proud of her furniture collection, which requires a great deal of space. "I'm known for my fine furniture at fair market prices," she said.

The prices are amazingly fair. Touring the mall, a shopper can find items priced from $2 to thousands. "We offer something for everyone," Case explained.

Case is currently working on The Christmas Room. This room, which will be open year-round, will feature every imaginable Christmas decoration.

However, without a doubt, Case is the most excited about her artisans studio. "It is our next project," she said. "A true labor of love."

Artisans from all over the area will be available every Saturday. A different artisan is planned for each week. In the upcoming months, Case has artisans who specialize in furniture restoration, wood repair, stained glass, clocks, vintage jewelry, and so much more.

On Sept. 5, Louis Aranda, an expert in furniture restoration and repair, will be on hand to answer questions. Sept. 10 features Margaret Sexton, an expert in antique buttons and the making of buttons. Ray Nicholas will be on hand Sept. 17 to share his expertise on stained glass and repairs, followed by Marie Hedrick, a vintage jewelry expert, on Sept. 24.

Case plans to keep the community apprised of the various artisans through Lakeland Newspaper's Community Calendars. Also, Park Avenue Antique Mall invites local artisans to join the Park Avenue family. Those interested should call (708) 838-1624.

Park Avenue Antique Mall is definitely a place in Antioch to stop by and browse. Case not only has a large number of items available, her real genius is the artful way she displays them. However, Case is quick to credit others for her "work-in-progress."

"We have had hard working dealers that have contributed to our success," explained Case. "It just didn't happen. It is a combination of organization and artistic talent."

Park Avenue Antique Mall, unlike many other antique shops, is open seven days a week from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Sundays. The mall is located at 345 Park Avenue with parking available.

Rescue Squad

Personnel from the St. Therese Satellite Center confirm that ambulances from Antioch Rescue Squad are not using the facility any longer. Apparently, a letter was sent from the director of Victory Hospital's EMS services to St. Therese discussing the matter. It is believed that the center, however, is a licensed facility.

"In my opinion, our rescue squad is one of the finest in the state," said Republican candidate for County Board, Judy Martini. "My concern is for the well-being of patients which might be compromised by a delay caused by transporting all emergencies to area hospitals."

There are different levels of care an ambulance patient may need, and Martini is worried that ambulances could be tied up in the "long transportation route" with a non-life threatening emergency. "Immediate medical attention should not be thwarted for bureaucracy's sake," opined Martini.

"We're affected by the ruling the most," said Tim Osmond, a squad paramedic. "We are the farthest away from the hospitals."

"As it stands now," Osmond continued, "We are looking at the situation so that it can be addressed to accommodate our people."

According to Karen Grueter of IDPH, the rulings are found in sections 4.01, 4.06, 4.16, 4.19, 4.20, and 12 of the Emergency Medical Services Systems Act.

Crane receives Jefferson Award

U.S. Representative Philip M. Crane of District 8 was named a recipient of the food distribution industry's Thomas Jefferson Award, which honors members of Congress who support the principles of free enterprise.

The biennial Thomas Jefferson Awards program is sponsored by the National-American Wholesale Grocers' Association (NAWGA)/International Foodservice Distributors Association (IFDA), a trade group based in Falls Church, Va., comprised of more than 300 food distribution companies across America. The Thomas Jefferson Award is being presented this year to 180 members of the House of Representatives who have a voting record demonstrating consistent support for sound fiscal policy, minimal government regulation, free trade and other Jeffersonian principles of government.

"As our industry has looked to Capitol Hill over the past two years for leadership on important economic and regulatory issues, Philip M. Crane consistently has been a visible, effective presence," said John Block, president of NAWGA/IFDA. "Our nation needs leaders who understand the importance of the free enterprise system to the overall economic health of America."

"This awards program is a hallmark of NAWGA/IFDA's effort to make a contribution in Washington in the legislative arena. We believe the Thomas Jefferson Awards highlight our association's commitment to free enterprise."

Appeal

some property owners to keep up with their monthly payments," explained Republican County Board candidate Judy Martini.

"Many of our seniors are on fixed incomes. While seniors are currently eligible for exemptions of up to $3,500 of property tax assessments which can be deferred until after death, there is no immediate relief as a result of Governor Edgar's veto of a bill which would freeze the assessed values of their homes at the 1993 level for those age 65 or older making less than $35,000," Martini continued. "It is taxing people right out of their homes."

The petition drive is a subdivision by subdivision effort. Carol Jonites, president of United Homeowner Association of Unincorporated Antioch (UHAUA) was told by the Board of Review office that a subdivision by subdivision petition would have a greater impact.

Interested property owners should contact their homeowner or subdivision officials, or call Jonites at 395-7371.

"Many waterfront owners on the Chain have experienced dramatic increases in their assessments just because they are waterfront properties," said Martini. "When, in particular, riverfront properties on the upper Fox River, in my opinion, have depreciated in value at least $10,000 as a result of the blanket no-wake ruling by the Department of Conservation. If I were those people, I would be protesting too."

School

the program," said Board Member Larry Peterson. However, he admitted, "It would be hard to make a decision this evening."

Other board members are a bit more hesitant. "I would be hard pressed to put something on the ballot," said Board Member Joanne Osmond, "without being able to justify it to the public."

"Sounds like a special board meeting," Board President Laurel Dahl told the board. Ahlers was then instructed to make a comparison of where the school stands now with last year's failed referendum goals.

The last referendum push in April, caused dissension not only between neighbors, but also between residents of Lake Villa and Antioch. While the last few referendums had ground-swell support from Lake Villa and Lindenhurst residents, tax increases are not popular in Antioch.

Neighbors argued with neighbors, and debates between school administrators and taxpayer resistance groups degenerated into insult-swapping exchanges. Better Education/Sensible Taxes. (BEST) was one of the stronger opponents of last spring's education fund referendum. "BEST is on the sidelines watching the whole thing," said BEST President Alan Knutsen of this latest referendum consideration.

Furthermore, Antioch residents are still reeling from the recent increases in their property assessments. At this time, many subdivisions are gathering their residents to file group assessment appeals.

Antioch cheerleaders earn high marks at camp

While the Antioch football team was sweating it out on the practice fields before school started, another group of athletes was also active preparing for the fall sports season.

The Antioch High varsity and sophomore cheerleaders were two of 35 squads that attended summer camp in August at the University of Wisconsin, Milwaukee.

Sponsored by the Universal Cheerleading Association, the teams spent four days working on stunts, improving skills and developing teamwork.

Antioch's varsity squad received the leadership award, representing the camp's highest award for best overall squad during the four days.

In addition, the Sequoit cheerleaders received superior ratings on stunts, dance, sidelines and cheers. They also won the first-place trophy in competition with their dance routine.

The sophomore squad also had a successful camp, earning two excellent and six superior ribbons. The sophomores were awarded a superior trophy. Charay Reilly and Candice Kasprzak were selected as UCA All-Stars.

Lady golfers open season

The Antioch High School girls golf team has just completed the first week of the season with double practices each day.

A total of 15 girls will make up the varsity and junior varsity teams.

Leading the Sequoit linksters will be two-year varsity letter winner and team MVP, Sarah Murphy. Murphy is a junior and is expected to receive strong challenges from her sister Lisa, a sophomore, and Kelly Periman, another junior.

Sequit Golf Coach Steve Wapon has indicated that some very "spirited competition" is taking place among Marissa Blasko, April Bolton, Laura Cziczko, Deanne Dalgaard, Crystal Davis, Erika Francisco, Angie Pederson, Sarah Rockow, Heather Ronkoske, Jessica Schmitt, Jessica Shore, and Krista Workman.

The Lady Sequoits opened the season against Carmel/Hersey. They play Harvard/Woodstock Aug. 29, Regina Dominican Aug. 30 and Stevenson/Wheeling Aug. 31.

Renwood plans third scramble

The Friends of Renwood, an advisory committee whose goal is the continuing improvement of Renwood Golf Course in Round Lake, are making final plans for their third annual Friends of Renwood Scramble.

This year's event is slated for Sept. 25, beginning with an 11 a.m. shotgun start. Enjoy 18 holes of golf with a cart, a hot dog/brat lunch and a buffet dinner at the Fairways of Renwood.

Events include a $100 shoot-out, longest drive, closest to the pin, straightest drive, longest putt, gorilla drive as well as team skins, blind bogey and pink ball.

Participation is limited to 36 teams of five players. Cost is $50. Register at the Renwood golf shop. Deadline to register is Sept. 18.

Defense could lead Sequoits to NSC title

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

Defensive Coordinator Mike Gordy believes this year's Sequoits are one of the best football teams Antioch has fielded in almost a decade.

"This team has the best chance for a conference championship since 1985," Gordy said with a hint of excitement in his voice. Antioch lost to Mundelein in the opening round of the playoffs in 1985. Since then, Antioch has not seen post-season action.

The scoop around the North Suburban Conference also has Antioch labeled as an "up and coming" team, various coaches noted. Stevenson and Zion are predicted to be the top two contenders, but coaches have also said Antioch could be a "sneaker."

With the exception of the final game against Zion, Antioch was within a touchdown in 5 of its 6 losses last year.

"We were in a lot of games last year," Head Coach Del Pechauer pointed out.

Antioch's strong point will be its defense, especially its secondary where seniors Dan Newcomb, Sean Hanrahan, James English, Jim Stevens and Jeff Miedema—all are returning to their positions of a year ago.

Gordy has high expectations out of this experienced defensive backfield.

"I'm pretty excited," Gordy said. "Of all the skill positions, they're all returning starters."

Opposing quarterbacks are going to have a difficult time throwing the ball over Newcomb's head. Newcomb is 6'4". He was also a wide receiver last and saw some play time during Saturday's inter-squad scrimmage as a receiver, but Pechauer insists Newcomb will be knocking down passes, not catching them this year.

Antioch also has the speedy and hard-hitting trio of Lon Steele, Chad Molczan and Jason Breen (a junior with varsity experience) to plug the holes at the linebacker positions. Greg Laube, another junior with varsity experience, and Rick Cerk are other linebackers who could see a lot of playing time, Gordy said.

On the defensive line, Gordy said there were three holes still being determined. Jake Nathan is expected to return to his defensive end spot after a minor leg injury heals.

"We're beat up," said Pechauer, adding that many players were recovering from minor sores and groin pulls after a rigorous two weeks of practice. "They really took a beating. Some of the guys weren't in shape," Pechauer said.

The Sequoit offense may not have the experience the defense has, but this year's seniors are the first offense to have four years under their belts in executing the wishbone formation offense. Pechauer introduced the power offense four years ago.

Pechauer is also having a difficult time selecting a starting quarterback. Dave Smith and Walter Martens are vying for the role.

Sequit kickers want NSC crown to call their own

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

The Sequoits soccer team will be greedy this year. It does not want to share the North Suburban Conference title. The Sequoits want it all to themselves.

A losing grudge match against archival Warren Township High last year created a three-way tie for first between Antioch, Stevenson and Libertyville.

"We're anxious to play them (Warren Blue Devils) again this year," said Antioch soccer coach Brad Wilson.

Besides seeking revenge against Warren, Antioch will have to face beat perennially tough Stevenson and Libertyville.

"They were tough, and they're going to be as tough or tougher this season," Wilson predicted of Stevenson.

A win against Libertyville will be Antioch's first. Last year, the two teams dueled to a 0-0 tie.

Antioch is going to be just as competitive this season as well with four returning starters and two budding juniors who played for the undefeated sophomore squad last year.

Returning to defend the net will be senior Keith Jackson. He posted nine shutouts last season, four were NSC shutouts.

All-Conference, All-Sectional and three-year varsity player Joe Earl will return to the midfield and striker positions. The Chicago Sun-Times listed Earl as one of the top 50 players in the state.

"I think that is an understatement," Wilson said. "He could be in the top 10. He has a great work ethic and deserves all the recognition he can get."

Earl kicked in 10 goals last year and assisted for 15 more.

Defenders Jeremy Schulz and Lane Benziger will return to the starting line-up as a stopper and a sweeper. Wilson called the duo "a good one-two punch."

Up and coming juniors joining the varsity squad are midfielders Cal Cruickshank and Brian Weeks. Wilson said both have the potential to be play makers.

After a stint in Europe this summer, Cruickshank has developed a new and improved outlook on soccer, Wilson noted.

"His skills are shining," Wilson said. "We hope for great things out of him this fall."

And both the school and the community have high expectations out of the Sequit kickers.

U.S. karate teams win 2 gold medals in Good Will Games

The adult and junior contingents of the American karate teams proudly walked away with gold medals after grueling matches against the Russian Army teams during the Good Will Games.

Fighting for the junior squad included Eric Brown of Antioch, Becky Bush of Libertyville, Jennifer Green of Tulsa, Okla., and Travis Boggs and Chris Hogan, both of Kansas.

The adult karate squad included Robert Brown of Antioch, Dean Lassiter of Waukegan, Theo Plaines of Waukegan, Doug Yates of Ohio, Allan Seager of Tulsa, Okla., and Rene Santiago of Kenosha, Wis.

More than 50 nations competed in various events at the Good Will Games in St. Petersburg, Russia. Only the American teams walked the field during closing ceremonies Aug. 7.

The Americans, and the Karate teams in particular, were greeted by Russian President Boris Yeltsin and by a standing ovation from a cheering Russian crowd.

"I have never seen anything like that—what a rush," said John Townsley, regional director of the USA Karate Federation. Townsley coached the karate teams and heads the USA Karate Club in Libertyville.

"We were afraid we were going to get booed," Townsley said. "The Russian people were just super. They were genuinely hospitable to Americans."

Before the cheering accolades and signing autographs for Russian fans, the U.S. junior and adult karate teams had to battle the karate teams trained by the Russian Army.

Townsley said the fighting was rough because the rules and standards of international karate are still being determined, as karate was being demonstrated before international Olympic committees during the Good Will Games.

In the U.S., for example, hitting is not allowed in the face. In the opening match against Russia, a U.S. junior was immediately hit in the face.

"She came back to substantially beat her opponent," Townsley said. "It was very, very hard fighting. It was as close to kick boxing as you're going to get."

The U.S. junior team faced the Russians first, which set the tone for the adult squad, Townsley said.

In their hopes of making karate an Olympic sport, the American karate teams will compete in the Pan Am games before bidding for a demonstration spot in the 1996 Olympics in Atlanta. If the karate is selected as a demonstration sport in the 1996 games, it could become a medal-competing sport in the 2000 Olympics.

"We have people working all over the world," Townsley said. "We're hopeful, but it's just a matter of time."

Shoreline stars complete season with a shutout win

STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

Although there was only one person at the concession stand, there were no bratwursts, and players at times did not know how many outs there were, Simmons Field proved to be just the ticket for baseball deprived fans.

Shoreline used strong pitching from Gurnee Indians Jay Geraghty and Craig Chivatairo to shut down Norridge 7-0 in the annual Rick Sedar All-Star Game.

The Shoreline Stars played as a team which had been together all year in outitting Norridge 10-3. Geraghty gained the win and he and Chivatairo combined for 5 strikeouts.

"It was a very nice team which was fun to watch," Bruce Bauer, who served as manager of the Shoreline team, said.

"Everyone all the way through our lineup contributed," Bill Stranowicz said.

"I had not pitched in a couple of weeks and knew I would only go 3 innings. I had good movement on the fastball," Geraghty said.

Chivatairo missed the Shoreline champion Gurnee post-season tournament with a shoulder injury but the two weeks off helped. "I almost did not play this year, but Bill (Stranowicz) talked me into it," he said.

The Shoreline team broke the game open with a 3-run fourth inning. Steve Greenspan, who played for Highland Park in the regular season and Gurnee in the post-season had a key RBI double along with Mike Garner for a 4-0 lead.

Shoreline padded the lead in the seventh. Lee Bergstrom and Al Dolleria of Kenosha Kings singled, Gurnee's Todd Staehle reached on a fielder's choice and Mark Cibario had a sacrifice fly. Bill Stranowicz collected the second of his two RBIs with a single.

Shoreline added a run in the next frame. Joe Keller of Gurnee singled as did Greenspan. Matt Pulaski forced Keller at third, but Bertram was credited with a hit and a run scored on an error.

Norridge, whose hitters were batting over .300 as a rule in the regular season, had a hit early but later scoring chances were snuffed. A double play helped in the eighth inning. A fielder's choice on a close out at second base and a long flyball to center ended the game.

It was well past 10:30 p.m. then, time to shut down the lights at the field where the Class A Twins once called home and wonder if semi-pro ball will likewise share the spotlight with the minor leagues in April.

Windy City Sports magazine presents 'Snow White Ride'

The Snow White Ride is a special bike rally meant for competition among women only.

Distances are 12, 30 or 60 miles. The routes are generally flat, but there are some rolling hills and some strong climbs.

There will be plenty of rest stops along the way to provide snacks, fruits and refreshments.

After the ride, food will be served, including Mama Tish's Italian Specialties, Mrs. T's Pierogies, Quaker rice cakes and many apple products.

There will be a raffle of more than $1,000 in prizes on rally day which includes a Continental Airlines ticket. A portion of the proceeds will be donated to projects which support the local cycling community.

Entry fee is $15. Bikers should plan to start between 7 and 9 a.m. For more information, call (312) 421-6927.

Determined Rams get ready for first victory

After two 0-9 seasons, one might expect the Grayslake Rams to wish to take a break from football during the off-season.

Not a chance.

More determined than ever, Coach Dan Dillon saw potential in his first squad and early on set forth an ambitious off-season regime.

"We are off to a good start with a good attitude and ethics. We have 33 kids on the team and they all played an off-season sport, or lifted or participated in our six-week camp. All programs seem to be doing that," Dillon said.

Dillon estimates the Rams have clocked more than 200 hours of off-season work.

"I can't wait," returning wide receiver Cris Perham said of the Aug. 26 opener at Kaneland.

Perham prepared by participating in the Northwestern University passing league. "It was awesome," he said.

While last year at this time there was a quarterback battle, this year the job goes to Lance Palo, a senior. "He moves well and has a strong arm," Dillon said of Palo, who was also at NU's camp.

Luke Bolton, a senior, is back at wide receiver and Eddie Pak is back in the backfield as running back. Adding depth at wide receiver is Jeff Nuetzmann.

Grayslake's strength could be its line creating big holes for the backfield talent.

Returning include:

Steve Swanson, a 6-2, 235 pound center and defensive tackle; Brian Wagner, 6-0, 215; Tom O'Grady, 6-1, 205 and Kyle Redmer, 6-3, 245. Mike Nix, 6-1, 205 also returns.

Dillon knows one game does not a season make, but the first one at Maple Park is getting the focus now.

"It is important we get off to a good start. We have been working toward that first game," Dillon said.

Tom Wittum and Mike Jones will handle the defense as assistants and Mike McCarthy handles the passing game with Dillon ready to call the plays for Year 2.

"I think the conference is up for grabs. I think we would like to be included in this, but this is a well-coached league," Dillon said.

Obstacles the Rams have had to overcome is a start of school earlier than most, so less two-a-days perhaps and Dillon is juggling both head football coach and athletic director's job.

But with determination as watchword, the Rams may be ready to sneak up on more than one foe in 1994.

Sequoits

Martens has the better throwing arm," Pechauer said. "They both do good things." Pechauer said he might rotate both quarterbacks between each series during the home opener Saturday.

Running with the ball for Antioch will be fullback Josh Johnston and running back Brad Rubash. Catching the ball will be wide receivers Justin Jenison and Andy Davis.

Pechauer also has high hopes in his 6'3", 230-lb tight end Eric Dohrman. Adam Haley will also play as a tight end.

The meaty Jason Silarski and Kevin Lueck are returning to their positions at offense tackle and guard. Joining them on the offensive line are Matt Mortensen, Brian Maicke and Brian Roseman.

With the starting quarterback position still up for grabs, Pechauer said he will be relying on his defense while the offense gets its timing down.

"I think our defense will have to carry us for the first couple of games," Pechauer said.

Another feature fans will notice when the Sequoits take the field for their home opener against Fenton Saturday at 1 p.m. is the new uniforms. The Sequoits have reverted back to the school's original colors: Cardinal red and gray.

Maybe the new uniforms will bring a stroke of luck as the Sequoits battle for the NSC crown this fall.

Young linksters are aiming high

Grayslake High boys golf team members could count the number of strokes which separated them from the league title on one hand last year.

Four strokes were the difference between Grayslake and champ Marian Central. This year, a young Rams team aims to close that gap.

"We are a pretty young team, but winning the conference is our No. 1 goal," Coach Troy Harper said.

Grant aims to be tops in NWSC

STEVE PETERSON

Just ask former Chicago Bears football Coach Mike Ditka.

Molding a winner is one thing, getting to the top is harder yet.

Staying there, that is something else entirely.

Mark Barczak and the Grant Bulldogs find themselves in just that position after winning the Northwest Suburban Conference title last year.

Gone are the likes of Mike Ingram, Shawn Powers and Scott Gooddale, but the Bulldogs believe they have the horses ready to make another run at the NWSC crown and the playoffs.

"We have 31 kids. Last year we proved with 28 kids who want to be there, you can win a title. This year, we are working hard to stay there," Barczak said.

The enthusiastic Barczak is in his third year at the helm in Fox Lake and is impressed in the early days of two-a-days. Grant opens the year at home Aug. 26 with a 7:30 p.m. tilt against Jacobs.

Leading the way for the quarterback position for the Aug. 26 opener against Jacobs is Dave Jackstus. "I thought he was the second best quarterback in the conference last year behind Shawn Powers. At 6-foot, 2-inches, 195 pounds, he is a horse," Barczak said.

Powers went on to win Most Valuable Player honors in the NWSC as Grant finished 5-5. The Bulldogs gave Crystal Lake South a scare before losing 18-12 in the first round of the Class 4A playoffs.

Dave Stone had an outstanding junior year with 697 yards in 117 carries and 5 touchdowns. He had 315 yards in catches. He returns to be a threat in the Grant backfield.

Junior Tony Coniglio is "the fastest guy on the team", according to Barczak.

the wideouts including: Phil Egleston, Erick Rassch and Paul Notralno.

"It is so early to talk about who would start on the line. It is wide open," Barczak said.

Candidates are: senior Jim Koch, 5-10, 215; senior Dan Morjal, 6-1, 205; junior Brad Twarowski, 6-2, 260 and Joe Smith, 6-2, 240.

"It is like a TV set that works, why fix it," Barczak said of the offense.

Seniors anchoring the defense may be cornerback Mike McCoskey, Mark Whitt and Jim Thomas on the line.

The defense is being coordinated by Brian Kibitlewski.

"If there are any differences, it will be on defense," Barczak said.

He was ready more than anyone else in Fox Lake for mid-August to come.

"It's time. Passing leagues are nice, but football is 11-on-11 with pads, not 7-on-7 with flags," he said.

Panther traditions continue to remain strong

Some things never change when it comes to Round Lake football.

"Kids coming back to help other kids out - that is what Round Lake football is all about," Kevin Dempsey said.

Joe Belcher, all-everything linemen in the 1980s, is a volunteer coach while Mike Bragg and Bob Swanson gave quarterbacks pointers during off-season workouts.

Dempsey is preparing the Panthers for the season opener at home Aug. 26 against McHenry. Kickoff time is 7:30 p.m.

"It is a challenge, but I always wanted to be a head coach," Dempsey said.

Dempsey takes over for Mike Dunn. After 10 years coaching the Panther football teams to 44 wins and two state playoff appearances, Dunn is now principal up the street at McGee Middle School.

Dempsey believes his staff is excited and energetic about the season but like the players on the 40-man roster, it is young. Dave Channel, Howard Conkling and Rob Rommel are back, Doug Barnshaw, Ron Clark, Doug Moss and Belcher are new to the coaching staff.

Dempsey is pleased with the work the Panthers have put in during the off-season.

Senior Brian Thompson, junior Kevin Burris and Jay Videlka are leading candidates for running back spots. Mario Blanquel, Joe Miller and Mike Bousa are all striving for backfield time. All have average speed, Dempsey said.

"Our strength is the offensive and defensive lines. We have four starters back," Dempsey said.

Leading the way are: Steve Lomvardis, a 5-11, 190 pound tackle; Chad Poglaven, a 6-1, 210 pounder; tight end Patrick Husk, 6-0, 210 and Andy Kukla, 6-1, 175.

Opposing runners may be seeing double on the Round Lake defense. Identical twins Tim and Mark Mazardiz are back.

John Tonyan, Mike Schuster and Adam Hernandez, Pat Foley are all ready to lead the always strong RL defense.

Chris Passamore, a senior, has been a surprise at tight end.

"The key will be how our juniors develop at the skilled positions," Dempsey said.

All told, some 100 players reported to football practice, which started Aug. 10.

"We will have freshmen A and B games and with the large numbers of juniors, we should be able to have some junior varsity games," Dempsey said.

He knows the Warriors will not be an easy first-week foe.

"They are a perennial playoff team, but we like to play the best," he said.

Cheerleaders

Lutgen, Jamie Ryan and Brandi Houle were also names All-Stars, which qualified them for a trip to Austria and Hungary. The entire squad qualified for a trip to Hollywood.

In July, the varsity squad attended a three-day home camp sponsored by the International Cheerleading Association.

Awards of excellence were given for creativity, skill, sparkle and shine, improvement, and 110 percent effort. The entire squad qualified for a trip to Dallas, Texas, to cheer in the Cotton Bowl.

Krista Harvey and Houle qualified to compete as All-American cheerleaders. Jill Thompson, Jennie Weber, Ryan and Lutgen qualified as ICA All-Stars and are eligible for a trip to Ireland and Hawaii. Ryan received a leadership award.

Varsity cheerleaders attending the camp were Mary Aschbacher, Kristin Beadle, Katie Cox, Laura Deutsch, Krista Harvey, Lauren Haas, Houle, Amy Marquardt, Dana Pierson, Jill Thompson, Joelle Wegener, Weber, and captains Lutgen and Ryan.

Cannon, Christine Goldirsch, Casey Houghton, Kasprzak, Melissa Kranz, Tricia Livermore, Reilly, Betsy Sterling and Kathy Sperling.

Antioch Community High School students were welcomed to the 1994-1995 school year with more than freshly painted walls. Although, by the way, the walls and lockers were painted over the summer.

"We have painted a lot of the areas," said Principal Mike Radakovich. "I think the kids are going to enjoy it. The mural is gorgeous."

The mural, Radakovich is referring to, is the splendid red and white tile mural on the first hallway to the right as students walk through the doors. On the opposite side of the wall, trophy cases will be put in to enhance the school-spirit atmosphere.

According to Linda Lynch, the school's public relations spokesperson, when freshman students passed through the hallway during orientation, they were so impressed they ran their hands over the wall.

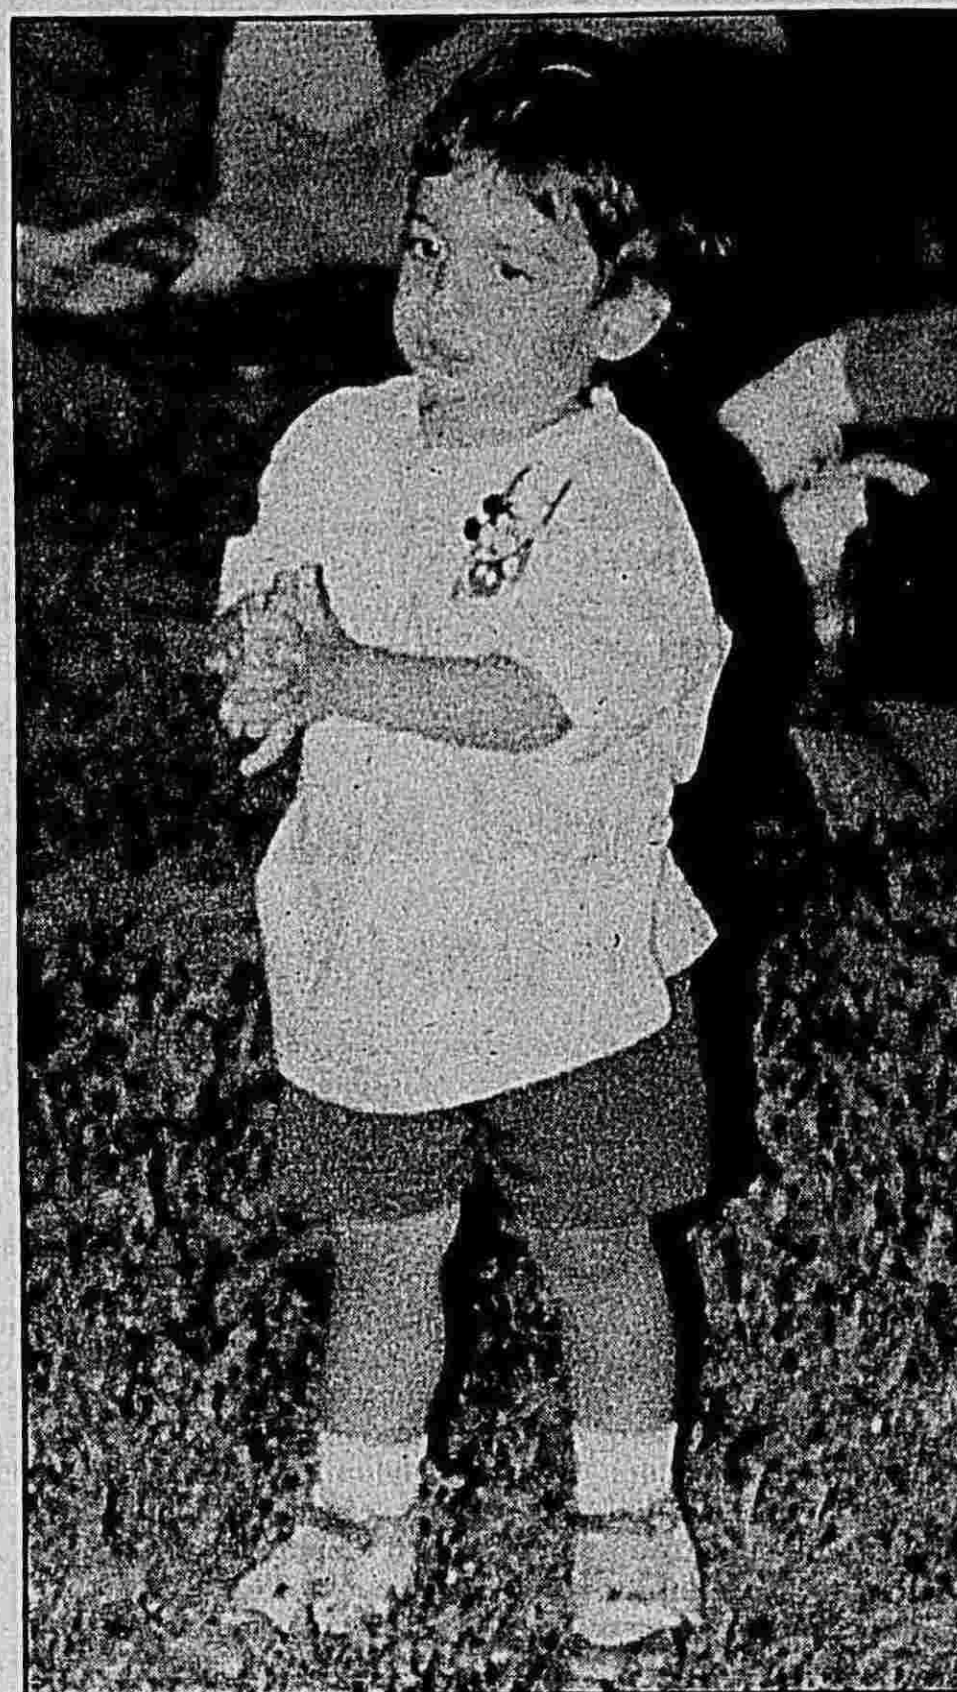

Custodial workers, outdoor maintenance people, and other contractors were still busy on Monday, the day before school, finishing off the numerous projects. Hammering and lawn mowers could still be heard later on in the day.

Many of the rooms and offices received new carpeting along with paint. "Everything was moved out into the halls," said Lynch of the extensive work.

Along with the inside, the parking lot was improved. Workers had just completed the blacktopping of the driveway areas.

The gymnasiums also received extra attention. The gloss on the wood floors reflect like mirrors.

The school is also embarking on a library project to put all of the card catalog on computer. Students will be able to simply type up what they need and get a full listing, including whether or not the book is available. With over 24,000 books, this project will continue on throughout the school year.

New boating safety class planned for Antioch

TINA L. SWIECH
Staff Reporter

The U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary announced the next boating safety courses, and a new class in Antioch is one of them.

On Monday nights starting on Sept. 19 at 7:30 p.m., the regular classes held at the Grant Township Hall in Ingleside, on 411 Washington St. will begin. The cost is $20 for books.

This year the Antioch seamanship course will be brought back. The class will start at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 21 at Pedersen's Marina at 840 W. Hwy. 173. Cost is $25.

Instructor Millard Rutkowski said several years ago there were safety courses held in Antioch.

Rutkowski is busily involved in the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary five nights a week.

This fall on Friday nights he will start teaching a course in navigation at the McHenry County College once again. On Mondays he will be teaching in the Fox Lake area, then on Tuesday's he teaches the boating safety course in Palatine. Wednesday's will be in Antioch and on Thursday's Rutkowski teaches the U.S. Coast Guard class in Arlington Heights.

Late shift volunteers are needed for PADS shelters

The 15 CONNECTION/PADS shelters located throughout Lake County begin the new 1994-95 shelter season on Oct. 1 still needing volunteers able to work either the second or third shift.

"The people of Lake County have always responded wonderfully to our call for volunteers," said PADS Volunteer Coordinator Marie Garsenstein. "Unfortunately, most feel able to work only the first shift. This leaves some sites with more volunteers than they can utilize from 6:30 to 11 p.m., but in need of personnel from 11 p.m. to 3 a.m. and 3 to 7 a.m."

Garsenstein added that if every person who volunteered could work only one second or third shift just once during the season, no shelter would ever be short of late night or early morning help.

PADS (Public Action to Deliver Shelter) provides homeless men, women and children with emergency shelter, meals and advocacy during the cold weather season from Oct. 1 through April 30. Each shelter is open one night a week with one, two or three shelters open each night.

Shelters are located on a rotating basis in Antioch, Grayslake, Gurnee, Libertyville, Lindenhurst, Wauconda, Waukegan and Wildwood. Anyone able to give a few hours a month to help those who have no place to call home is asked to attend a two hour orientation and a one hour training session to be held later at the site of their choosing. No advanced registration is required. The sessions prepare volunteers to work in a PADS shelter and to understand some of the dynamics associated with homelessness. Orientations are scheduled for:

- Thursday, Sept. 8, 7 to 9 p.m., College of Lake County, Room 005

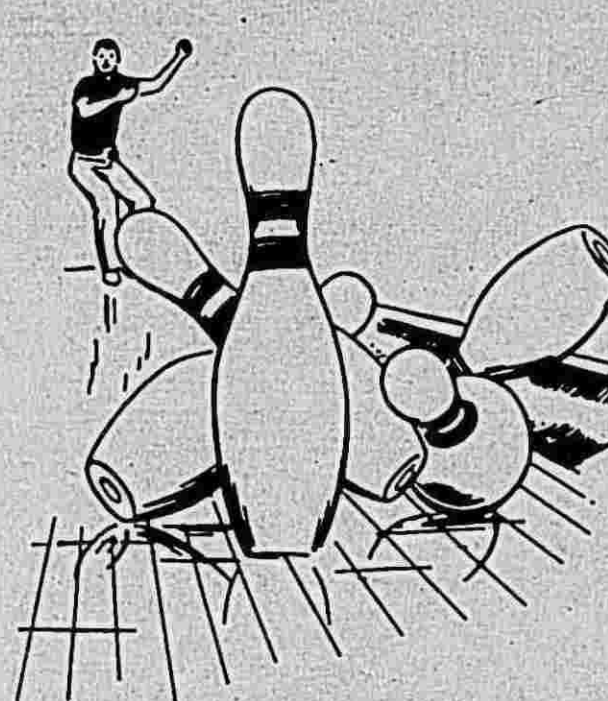

- Sunday, Sept. 11, 3 to 5 p.m. at the First Congregational Church, 315 N. Utica St. in Waukegan

- Thursday, Sept. 22, 7 to 9 p.m., College of Lake County, Room 005

- Sunday, Sept. 25, 1 to 3 p.m. at Holy Cross Lutheran Church, 29700 N. St. Mary's Road in Libertyville

- Tuesday, Oct. 11, 7 to 9 p.m., College of Lake County, Room 005

"Homelessness can happen to anyone, especially in these troubled times. The need for volunteers, especially for the second and third shifts, is urgent," said PADS Director John Ames, who reminds prospective volunteers that they need give only a few hours a month to help individuals and families who have no place to call home. For more information, call CONNECTION/PADS at 362-3381, weekdays between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Father Bob begins job as Carmel High principal

TINA L. SWIECH
Staff Reporter

A longtime administrator has been welcomed at Carmel High School in Mundelein as their new principal.

Father Robert Carroll or simply Father "Bob" as he is known, has begun his new role. "It's a beautiful school. It's exactly the way a Catholic school should be run," said the reverend about his new position.

Although both Carmel in Mundelein and Mt. Carmel in Chicago, where Father Bob previously worked, are both Catholic schools, they are each run a little different, he explained.

At the Chicago school "I was the sole administrator," said Father Bob. "There was no vice-principal."

"Up here there is more administration, and that's the way it should be," the new principal added. Father Bob described Carmel High School as "very structured" and "layered" with its number of administrators.

Since the first day of August, the personable leader has been working at Carmel part time. Last week he began carrying a full work-load.

From 1973 to 1979, the reverend held the title of teacher at Mt. Carmel High School. Then for a decade until 1990, he was an administrator at the same school.

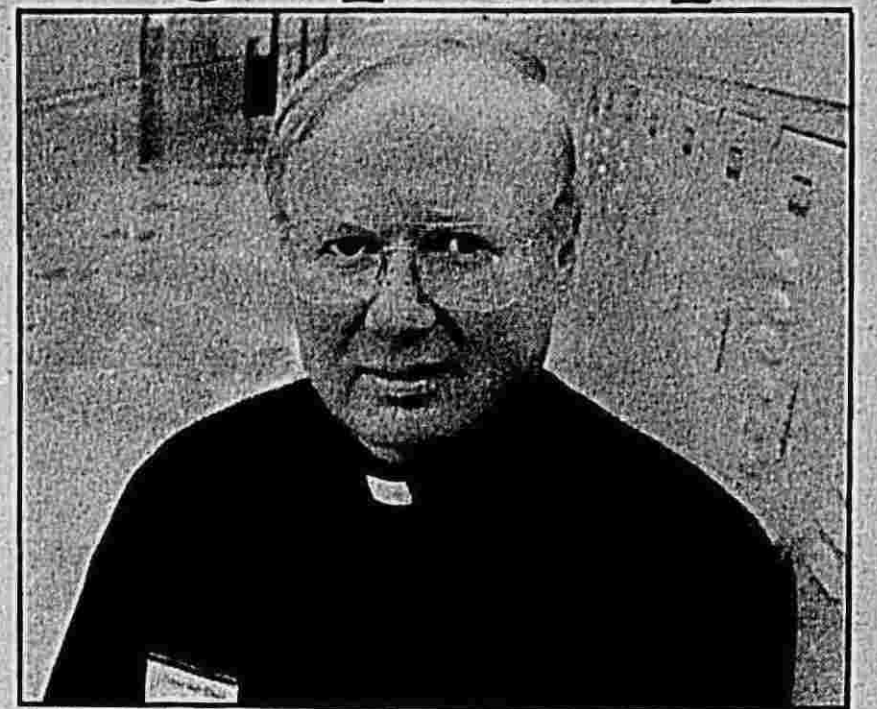

Father Bob resumed his studies after that, including studying in Israel for one year.

After that Father Bob went to Hyde Park where he enrolled in a program at the Catholic Theological Union. He then went on to Loyola University where he studied Educational Leadership and Policy Studies. Now he is half-way through with his dissertation.

The new principals said he is glad to be working at the school which is now nearing 1,300 students enrolled.

Carmel in Mundelein is run by two religious orders, explained the reverend. Those are the Carmelites (priests) and the BVM, a group of Sisters from Iowa.

Both orders have given their rights over to a non-profit corporation, that owns the school, explained Father Bob.

Republican official works election on island

TINA L. SWIECH
Staff Reporter

A trustee of Island Lake, the Lake County Republican Party secretary, and former Wauconda Township Republican Party chairman is lending a hand to promote democracy.

Through his consulting business, Fred Bigham has been asked to assist with elections in an exotic Caribbean island, of Curacao (pronounced kureso).

Last month Bigham traveled once again over 2,000 miles to get to the tiny yet beautiful island where he officially started on the country's elections held in April.

Bigham explained he was asked to perform the somewhat unusual feat for a Midwest American, after he became well-acquainted with people in Curacao from vacations he took there.

On one holiday there, while staying in the same hotel with some American friends, he was introduced to two members of the parliament. Eventually Bigham was asked to come back and perform the job of directing the election of Don Martina, who represents the MAN Party.

Bigham has worked election campaigns for some heavy-hitting Republicans in the past. Currently he is running the campaign in Lake County for Governor Jim Edgar. When Ralph Swank of Libertyville Township ran for county board in the '80s, Bigham handled his campaign.

For Bigham, his latest endeavor may not be that much larger than others he's worked on (Bigham noted Rep. Al Salvi has 60 precincts he's worked on, and the one on Curacao has a total of 105 precincts), but this is by far the most interesting.

Yet to Bigham, it still doesn't seem that it's such an oddity to be working for another people in another part of the world. "Americans go all over the world to help people," said Bigham.

He noted that in 1981, one of the eight parties on the island hired a consulting firm from Washington D.C. to establish their campaign. In fact most of the parties use outside firms and many come from America.

Bigham said currently there are rumors that the same man from the Washington D.C. firm is coming back to represent the PARR Party on the island. Although this is not one of the three major parties, the man from "Strategic Designs Systems" may give him a run for his money, said Bigham.

One of his most recent scores, the Washington consultant just got a 97-year-old blind man re-elected in the Dominican Republic, said Bigham.

Currently the country has 160,000 people, and 117,000 of them are eligible voters. There is no voter registration in Curacao, said Bigham.

The type of politics of Curacao is about as unusual as the customs there.

Fred Bigham

A poster of Don Martina, who is campaigning for the MAN Party, one of the three main parties on the Caribbean island of Curacao hangs in the headquarters of what is known as the "noble movement." Island Lake Trustee and Lake County Republican Secretary Fred Bigham has been hired to do the consulting for the MAN Party in the up and coming elections.

Overlooking a beach on the Atlantic Ocean from his hotel room, Fred Bigham ponders his next strategy to help MAN Party head, Don Martina win election. Bigham will conduct a phone poll when he returns to the island at the end of the month.

Lake County is a-buzz with bees and wasps

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

While there is no better way to wind up the summer like a Labor Day picnic, residents should plan to contend with at least a few uninvited guests. Area officials report an increase in those pesky, and sometimes dangerous, bees, wasps, and hornets.

Gary Zirves, local supervisor of Illinois Wildlife Control reports a definite increase in complaints to his office. "We don't do bees here," said Zirves, "but we get a lot of calls. There has been a definite increase in calls. Bees, wasps, and hornets seem to be on the rise. We refer these calls to pest control services.

Terry Resetar, co-owner of Pest Control Services, Inc. in Antioch reports a 50 percent increase in business from last year. "We have been really busy this year," said Resetar. "While we have seen a decrease in honey bees this year, bumble bees and yellow jackets have been a big problem for some reason."

She believes that the higher temperatures in early summer are the culprit. "We had 90 degree temperatures in June," she explained.

Resetar is a veritable walking encyclopedia about nuisance bees. For example, bee folklore has it that if you kill a bee, seven of his friends will come to the funeral. Resetar explains, "When you hit or swat a bee, it releases a pheromone. That sends a message to other bees to come and help."

While generally, during the summer, if you leave a bee alone, it will leave you alone, Resetar explains how things change in the fall. "What happens this time of year is that bees go into a feeding frenzy," she said. "In the fall, they change their feeding habits from pollen to See BEES page B4

AT A GLANCE

Avon tax assessor killed

GRAYSLAKE—Gerald Kristan, 37, Avon Township tax assessor for the past 13 years, was killed early Tuesday morning in a one-vehicle accident in central Illinois. Kristan was traveling westbound on Interstate 74 at approximately 3 a.m. 32 miles east of Peoria, when he lost control of his van. The vehicle entered the wide median ditch, went airborne and hit several trees before coming to rest in the median on its top. He was pronounced dead at the scene. The pavement was dry with no skid marks and conditions were clear. The crash is under investigation. Kristan was the father of two.

Board votes for single plant

MUNDELEIN—Village trustees opted to consolidate Mundelein's waste treatment into one plant instead of continuing to operate two separate facilities. Faced with growing needs from new development, the board felt it would be more cost effective in the long run to concentrate their resources on one facility at the Des Plaines River. Cost of the consolidated plan is estimated at $19.6 million.

ACHS may add referendum

ANTIOCH—The Antioch Community High School Board of Education has slated a special meeting to decide whether or not to put another referendum on the ballot this November. The meeting is scheduled for August 30 at 7:30 p.m. at the school. The board discussed the relative merits of such a move at last Thursday's regular meeting. However, they have decided to hold a special meeting to continue the discussion after the State Superintendent makes a final decision regarding the Lake Villa Unit School District plan.

Hawthorn has budget deficit

VERNON HILLS—Hawthorn School District 73 in Vernon Hills announced a tentative budget that calls for a $2.1 million deficit, which now makes for a $7.6 million education fund debt. School officials blame the state-imposed tax cap for its past and current deficit. The district lost more than $1 million this year due to restrictions on the tax cap. The district is also in the process of gaining voter approval for a two-part referendum which calls for a 43-cent tax increase to pay the debt and $6 million in bonds to build a new school for its growing student population. The district will remain on the state's financial watch list.

Public works heads pay raises

GURNEE—Reflecting the changing demands of the positions, Gurnee trustees approved new pay rates for public works supervisors and the superintendent. Acting on recommendations from James Repp, public works superintendent, the board agreed to new salary ranges for the public works foreman, utilities foreman and assistant public works foreman as well as public works superintendent. Gurnee used the Regional Government Salary and Fringe Benefit Survey.

Lack of park land sinks plan

LAKE ZURICH—A developer received a negative recommendation from a board committee regarding his proposed residential subdivision. Committee members wanted Gary R. Welch, president of Welch Development Corporation of Kildeer, to provide the full park land donation for his 21.3 acre, 29 lot development on the northwest corner of Buesching Road and Route 22. Welch's proposal came up .27 acre's short of the 1.35 acres required, and he said he could not reasonably provide any additional space. The full board will vote on the recommendation at its Sept. 6 meeting.

Committee against free fish

WAUCONDA—A village board advisory committee does not want to accept any money from the Illinois Department of Conservation and has asked Mayor James L. Eschenbach not to sign an intergovernmental agreement with IDOC and the Wauconda Park District. The agreement would provide free fish for Bangs Lake, and would not transfer any village authority of the lake to the state agency. The Bangs Lake Management Committee agreed to discuss the agreement again at its September meeting to give it another chance.

School says no to referendum

ROUND LAKE—District 116 school board tabled a request for an increase in the education fund. School officials cited lack of volunteers to chair a committee, negative attitude against referendums and not enough time to fully inform voters as reasons a referendum won't make the November ballot.

Water boil order may be over

ISLAND LAKE—Due to a failed water pump, one of two, which went out last Saturday night, residents in the old part of town were boiling their water. The Island Lake Water Company which serves about 800 residents and businesses in the center portion of Island Lake were hopeful to have the boil order lifted sometime on Tuesday or Wednesday. Residents who are customers of the village-owned water company which services the Westridge subdivision and the Fox River Shores subdivision, were in no way affected by the failure.

Circus is coming to town

ANTIOCH—Two performances of the Kelly-Miller Brothers three ring circus will be presented on Sept. 8 in Antioch. Tickets can be purchased at First Chicago Bank, First National Bank of Antioch, the Advertiser, and the Antioch Chamber of Commerce. The public is invited to watch as the animals are unloaded and the tents go up from 7:30 to 9 a.m. Sept. 8. A guide will be furnished for children of elementary school age.

New Walgreens, pet hospital

FOX LAKE—Two old businesses are currently getting new locations. Both the new Walgreens and the Fox Lake Animal Hospital are under construction on Rte. 12 in Fox Lake. Walgreens Pharmacy has been at the Lakeland plaza location for a number of years, and the animal hospital headed by veterinarian Dr. Bohdan Rudawski has been on Rte. 12 and Sayton Rd. for a long time. Now the pharmacy will move to a new building where the old animal hospital and a hair salon was—actually the store's parking lot will be there, and the new veterinarian's office is going to be further south on Rte. 12. Mayor Ken Hamsher, the owner of Hamsher's Funeral Home, suggested the idea for the new animal hospital to have a crematory is a good one. "Many of the municipalities and villages do have that service," he said.

Perfect family companion

Mooney

'Mooney'—Only 10 months old, very affectionate, bright and quick to learn! A perfect companion in a family with kids having energy such as his. He had his last home only a week, because the former owner decided she wanted "a tiny dog instead" and was willing to destroy this love. He's neutered and has had his shots, all ready to go to a caring home this time.

Bees

protein. They become more aggressive, plus there are more of them."

Resetar has some good advice for Labor Day picnics. "The key is don't eat fruit outside. Do not bring the food out until you are ready to eat it, and eat fast," she advises. "Drink out of plastic cups so you can see inside (to avoid stings to the mouth or throat). And, always dispose of food and pop cans in a lidded container. Otherwise, you will have a garbage can full of bees."

With the increase in bees and wasps, more people are getting stung. Nurses at the St. Therese Satellite Center also report an increase in the number of patients they have seen with bee and wasp stings.

"Yes, there has been a recent influx in cases," said a registered nurse at the center. The nurses at the center said they noticed the increase two weekends ago.

According to St. Therese, the most important thing to remember with a bee, wasp, or hornet sting is to call 911 if the patient experiences any trouble breathing. "Don't try and drive them," said the nurse. "Ambulances have epinephrine on the trucks." Also, do not put mud on a sting, despite what others may tell you. Put ice on it. If you are planning to have a picnic this fall, consider Chain O'Lakes State Park. According to Site Superintendent Ed Rodick, the park is buzzing less than usual.

For instance, poorer people there may collect social security, but wealthier residents are not eligible. Nearly everyone, no matter what their economic status, owns their own homes. Because of the warm climate, doors and windows are often kept wide open year round.

Election days in Curacao are literally fun days, said Bigham. They are serious but at the same token possess an almost carnival-like atmosphere.

Election days on the island are very different than they are in America. Vendors set up tents outside of polling places and sell caps and t-shirts with their party's logo. The three main parties in Curacao include MAN meaning "a noble movement," PNP which is the national party, and DVP which are the Democrats.

"On election day here," said Bigham, "you're not allowed to talk politics in the polling places. There (in Curacao) you get handed literature up until you walk into the booth to vote." Bigham said often times voters will sing their party's anthems and sometimes sing them loudly. Only if it gets out of hand, will they then be arrested.

Otherwise the entire day is rather peaceful, said Bigham.

The elections are always held on a Friday, done so purposely so the winners can party and many of them won't have to go to work the next day.

The island, one of a series of five which are all Dutch commonwealths, is located right off the coast of Venezuela. The two main exports are Amstel Beer and oil, explained Bigham.

At the end of this month, Bigham plans to go back to the island where the mysterious language spoken is a mixture of English, Dutch, Portuguese and Spanish called "Papiamentu." Bigham has plans to conduct a telephone poll on his next trip there. About 95 percent of the people on the island own telephones, he said.

Now is the time to be making child care arrangements for the upcoming school year. We want to help you make the best decision for your child and your family. Discover the high quality that only GreenTree at Parkway North offers.

Visit GreenTree Child Care Center at Parkway North and discover:

- A well-trained, caring staff of teachers.
- A developmentally sound program and curriculum.
- A building designed for children's needs.
- An ample, tree-shaded playground with a variety of play equipment.
- Age-appropriate developmental materials and equipment.
- A consistent, well-managed program supervised by a responsive director.

In addition to all this, every child care center operated by GreenTree strives to attain accreditation by the National Association for the Education of Young Children (NAEYC), a distinction bestowed on fewer than four percent of child care centers nationwide. Ask the director about NAEYC accreditation and what it means for you and your child.

If all this isn't enough to convince you that GreenTree is the right center for your child, we will make it a little easier for you to decide. We will give you

School funding needs alternatives

It's the time of the season when school districts are deciding whether or not to put a referendum on the ballot. School districts have until Sept. 6 to decide. One school board, the Round Lake Unit School District, has decided against a referendum at this time. The atmosphere is just not favorable for passage of a referendum and there is a lack of volunteers.

It's no surprise that taxpayers are negative regarding referendums. We live in a desirable community, hence buyers pay more for homes on the market. That results in higher assessments, which leads in turn to a higher tax bill, despite the tax cap.

While $100 or $200 per year is a drop in the bucket for some, that's a lot of money for senior citizens on fixed incomes or property owners who are property rich, but income poor. If the assessments continue to rise at a geometric pace, $200 could be $400 a few years down the road. It doesn't seem right that people who have paid off their mortgage can't afford to live in their house anymore.

Meanwhile, many of our schools are struggling. Classrooms have to do without the needed supplies, maintenance problems go unrepaired, class sizes rise and school districts go deeper in debt. If our school districts continue down this ominous road, our communities may not be so desirable in the future.

We're not alone in Lake County. School districts throughout the metropolitan area are facing the same type of problems.

It's time for the state to step in and own up to its responsibility to educate the children of Illinois. One way or the other, the funds will have to come from taxes. But doesn't it seem a lot more equitable if it came from income or sales taxes? A penny extra in sales taxes won't hurt anyone, but it could go a long way towards funding schools.

Recently, the state of Michigan put into action a daring school funding plan that utilizes both sales and income taxes. Illinois state legislators have their eyes on Michigan and will be looking at alternative school funding in the next term. It is certainly worth considering.

Making responsible parenting the law

The Village of Hawthorn Woods sent a message to its citizens last week—one that is long overdue. Listen up parents, you are responsible for your children whether or not you are home at the time they get out of control.

Hawthorn Woods fined the parents when their children held a beer bash while the couple was out of town. Under the terms of a parental responsibility ordinance approved in June, the parents face a $500 fine. The underage drinkers hosting and attending the party face charges of minor in possession of alcohol.

Updating and toughening the ordinance was largely the work of Police Chief William Urry according to Village President Douglas Challos who said Urry worked hard to toughen the ordinance and brought it to the village board for approval.

Urry says a similar ordinance is in effect in Buffalo Grove where he served prior to becoming Hawthorn Wood's first full-time police chief. After taking the job last year, Urry and his force dealt with several parties hosted by underage drinkers that consumed a great deal of manhours for the department.

Urry believes parents should be held responsible for their children's behavior and that they should help defray the cost of law enforcement responding to such incidents through the fines.

Ten underage drinkers were charged in the Aug. 13 incident which police were alerted to by the 21-year-old male host of the party who needed help getting his guests to leave.

The time is long past-due for parents to be held responsible for their own off-spring and to enforce the rules at home. It will lead to a safer community for all of us.

Hawthorn Woods is commended for taking a stand. Several other Lake County communities have similar ordinances or are studying the proposal. The time is at hand to put these ordinances into effect.

LETTERS TO THE Editor

Where are priorities?

Editor:

It is beyond my belief that our police department equipment is in such disrepair, when other departments ask for and receive everything. Where are your priorities for our public safety?

Squad cars are broken down and radar detectors don't work. Squad cars that have water in the gas tanks don't run very far, folks, and broken radar detectors won't catch many speeders.

By the way, Mayor, police should patrol the streets, not stand and observe public auctions or half hour village meetings. Beepers are needed for emergencies. Even that's too much money for Fox Lake. Fox Lake streets are not safe, people, and our trustees are not meeting the financial needs of the police department. On a budget of $1,028,000, this is what residents are receiving for their taxes!

James Lohenry
Fox Lake

Child care support

Editor:

The Child Care Resource and Referral at the YWCA of Northeastern Illinois has provided technical assistance and support to family child care providers and communities who are revising their zoning ordinances regarding family child care. Every year one or two communities in the county discuss this issue.

Our service received a phone call from a family who is planning to purchase a home in the southwest corner of Lake County. As a licensed child care provider for several years, the wife is planning to continue this service in her new home in Lake County. The problem: in the community where they were ready to purchase a home-zoning laws are prohibitive regarding this service.

These restrictive regulations exist in spite of the fact that over 57 percent of women with children under age six are working. It is estimated that by the year 2000 70 percent of preschool children will have mothers working outside the home. These statistics reveal a great demand for child care now and in the future. Child care centers offer one alternative, but many parents prefer family child care for infants and toddlers.

It behooves any public official to become informed of the child care needs in their community. Lack of quality child care can influence a family's decision not to buy a home in a community. Family child care and center child care offer a much needed service for working parents.

Diane Philipp
CCR&R Program Director

Gains respect

Editor:

I would like to make some clarification's in response to the Lipservice two weeks ago called "Help the kids". In the November election, there were three new board members elected to the Gavin school Board: Bonnie Thomson Carter, George Naydol and Edward Macas.

Although I have never met a perfect person in this world, I would like to mention what our superintendent, J. Michael Maloney, has accomplished in his short four years in our school district.

No sex, no violence. There isn't anything about the transgressions of President Bill or the seamy side of O.J. Simpson's life.

What book subject could be so compelling as to shove aside hot topics of the day? Believe it or not. Food.

Produced by the folks who publish "The Old Farmer's Almanac," short, punchy "Hearth & Home Companion" is must reading if you enjoy food, learning more about food and acquiring basic and helpful household information.

Guaranteed, you won't put down chapters like "Who Doesn't Love Pasta?" "Facing a Mountain of Chicken," "Out, Out, Damned Spot!" "Who Put the Benedict in the Eggs Benedict?" "Where Would We Be Without Duct Tape?" or "Make Them Once, Eat Them Twice."

"Hearth & Home" contains tidbits of information like the turkey cooking hotline, an 800 number for genuine, blast-furnace chilies, research proving that old-fashioned wood cutting boards kill off bacteria that live for hours on plastic boards, and dozens of regular and off-beat recipes like brewing an after-dinner vinegar (imported Italian balsamic).

My favorite recipe was Wartime Cake—eggless, milkless and butterless. One cocktail snack I'll skip is deep-fried garlic. Bet you never knew that cakes turn out better when ingredients are room temperature.

-PARTY LINES-

Crane, Porter split on House crime bill vote

Moving forward—Republican candidate for comptroller Loleta Didrickson wants to move the state into the computer age of checks and balances.

Didrickson

"Yet, the agencies frequently do not have the information access or the motivation to objectively execute these responsibilities."

She is proposing legislation that would allow the governor and the legislators to understand the cost of proposed programs during the legislative process.

"An objective, bottom line cost of proposed legislation is an extremely important factor for law makers and the Governor to have during the legislative process," Didrickson said.

Under the current system state agencies are required to prepare the fiscal impact analysis for the General Assembly on pending legislation.

Up and running—Supporters, friends and family gathered for the opening of Edna Schade's campaign headquarters at the Lincolnshire Corporate Center. Schade is the Republican candidate for the 60th district.

She has been taking her message to the streets on bicycle, dubbed the "Schadecycle" to meet voters. Schade is taking on freshman Democrat Lauren Beth Gash for the house seat.

"We lost the seat to Gash last time and I aim to get the seat back for the Republican Party," Schade said. The GOP candidate believes that Gash had benefited from big-gun party support and she will better represent voter's interest.

Issues such as stemming skyrocketing taxes, funding for schools, anti-crime efforts, child and family welfare and protecting the environment form the cornerstone of Schade's campaign.

Schade

About turn- Rep. John Porter (R-10th District) was one GOP member of the house who voted for the bi-partisan conference report on the Crime Bill which gained narrow passage. The bill now goes on to the Senate for approval. Porter was the only Illinois Republican to vote for the bill. he admits the bill is not perfect but said enough spending cuts were made to make it worthwhile. Voters in the district have voiced strong support for gun control measures and many made that know to the Congressman's office last week. Is this a case of a representative listening to his constituents?

Porter

No sale- Rep. Phil Crane (R- 8th District) said no to the revised bill referring to the conference who drafted the revision "a schizophrenic bi-partisan conference" during debate on the house floor.

Successful dance—Kudos to the Village of Vernon Hills for organizing its first-ever family dance. Smiles were abound as nearly 1,500 residents toured the historic Cuneo Museum for free, absorbed the beauty of the Cuneo Gardens and danced the night away under a tent. The dance also allowed numerous community organizations to sponsor booths, spread awareness of their individual charities and raise funds for their do-good causes. Early showers may have scared some people away, but the ones who braved the rain thoroughly enjoyed the evening. A special recognition should be extended to Public Relations Director Susie McCall, the main thrust and coordinator behind the event. While politicians talk about family values and traditions, Vernon Hills did something about it.

Sorry about that, Chief—When residents complained about gang activity in their neighborhood during a recent Mundelein Village Board meeting, Chief Ray Rose responded by saying, "We arrested 12 people for trespassing Saturday night!" When asked about the arrests later, the chief conceded, "Did I say Saturday? ... Maybe it was only four people." Would you believe they busted a little old lady jaywalking?

Spelling bee not scheduled : Republicans will be gathering at the Westin Hotel in Chicago for a Unity Dinner Sept. 15. Former Vice President Dan Quayle will be the featured speaker. So far no spelling bee has been scheduled for the event but GOP fundraiser may latch on to the idea if Quayle is willing. The event is being sponsored by the Family Taxpayers Network, headed by former Gov. Jim Edgar foe, Jack Roeser. Secretary of State George Ryan will be among the speakers. The fee is $250 a pop and for a few more dollars, you can have your photo taken with Quayle. Republican insiders say a successful event could generate funds and stop the third-party governor's bid of Steven Baer right in its tracks. Roeser, who ran against Edgar in the primary, is supporting Edgar's re-election bid in November against Democrat Dawn Clark-Netsch.

In need of a pot—A representative from the Fox Lake Youth Club advised the village board of the club's desire to use the Deer Haven Park picnic shelter for their haunted house this year. Then Al Gort blushed as he flustered the words to ask the board for a commode the club needs to use as part of their Halloween props. "I don't know what they want it for," Gort remarked several times. Mayor Ken Hamsher assured Gort someone out there had an old toilet they could use, and advised him to call a one of the plumbers in town.

Letters

Superintendent Theresa Dunkin, is being used as a role model for the State of Illinois;

2. Regular Education Initiative (RED)—first district in Lake County to initiate and is viewed the model program for SEDOL;

3. Teaching Integrated Math and Science (TIMS)—recognized by the U of I for superior implementation and results;

4. Enrichment classes—summer classes with one being taught by an administrator;

5. Grants-administrators have applied and received many grants the last four years. This has not only saved local tax dollars but has enriched the quality of our children's educational opportunities. For example, the continuation and expansion of the Gavin Tykes Pre-K Program; and two new computer labs at Gavin Central and Gavin North.

These and many more are possible not only through the direction of Maloney, but also through his professional leadership ability. As taxpayers we should all be thankful that Mr. Maloney takes the interviewing process seriously and with the Board of Education hires only qualified administrators and staff. He empowers all of our building principals so responsibility and accountability are delegated throughout the school system. It certainly seems to me we are getting our money's worth.

My involvement at Gavin school did not start with the November election. For the past several years I either held an office or participated in all of the following: PTA, Room Mother, Picture Day, Parent Advisory Council, HELPERS, SEDOL Governing Board, Japanese Cultural Exchange, instructor for Family Math, Market Day and a Mom of three Gavin Students.

The educational direction of Gavin School since Mr. Maloney was hired impressed me long before you elected me. Since that time, I have gained more respect for our superintendent, administrators and staff. They all enrich our children.

I would encourage parents, senior citizens and all interested parties in children's education to attend board meetings. This would give you an opportunity to see first hand how the people you elected professionally serve your children and community. This board member does just that! You elected me to serve the children, not my own interests. Do the other new board members share the same interest?

Library workers

Editor:

After reading the disease-infested trash that was directed toward the Grayslake Library in the Lipservice section of the Aug. 5 paper, I felt it was my duty to respond. I want to see a site chosen for the new library as much as anybody. However, resorting to incessant name-calling and malevolent deprecating not only delays the process of designing and building a new facility, but also shows the low maturity level and ignorance of all the residents who fall back on these rude, immature, and uncivilized remarks.

People should realize that every vacant lot in Grayslake is not on the market for sale. However, if a particular parcel is for sale, they should take into consideration the cost of the preparation of the land to be built upon, the price of the actual building, parking lot and land itself, and also the condition of the land and a possible pre-existing building. This is not the easy task everyone makes it out to be.

As for the employees and board members of the library, they happen to be working their posteriors off in order to provide access to information and facilities from their own and many other libraries. If you were to go to the Grayslake Library, you would find staff members that are very sociable, helpful and extremely happy to go out of their way in order to assist you. Those are characteristics that you would not be able to find at much larger libraries. GAPL employees should be appreciated more for their hard work instead of being degraded for what the fools in town call little work being accomplished and poor services.

Therefore, in reference to "The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn" by Mark Twain, mob mentality is very low due to the fact that those caught up the degradation of an individual or group lose the capability of thinking for themselves. As a result, they mimic preceding and current activists without contemplating what they are protesting or acting against. Perhaps Huck Finn should be a book recommended to be read by all the faultfinders that happen to live in Grayslake.

Zoning matter

Editor:

Barrington area residents must be thoroughly confused by EHS/Good Shepherd Hospital's zoning controversy. When EHS/GS's plan was turned down by Lake Barrington, the hospital turned to Lake County, whose ordinances provide only a category the county calls "suburban."

While "suburban" evokes images of pleasant tree-lined streets, neat lawns, some local stores and offices, under Lake County's present "suburban" zoning category, there is almost no type of commercial or industrial enterprise which is not allowed.

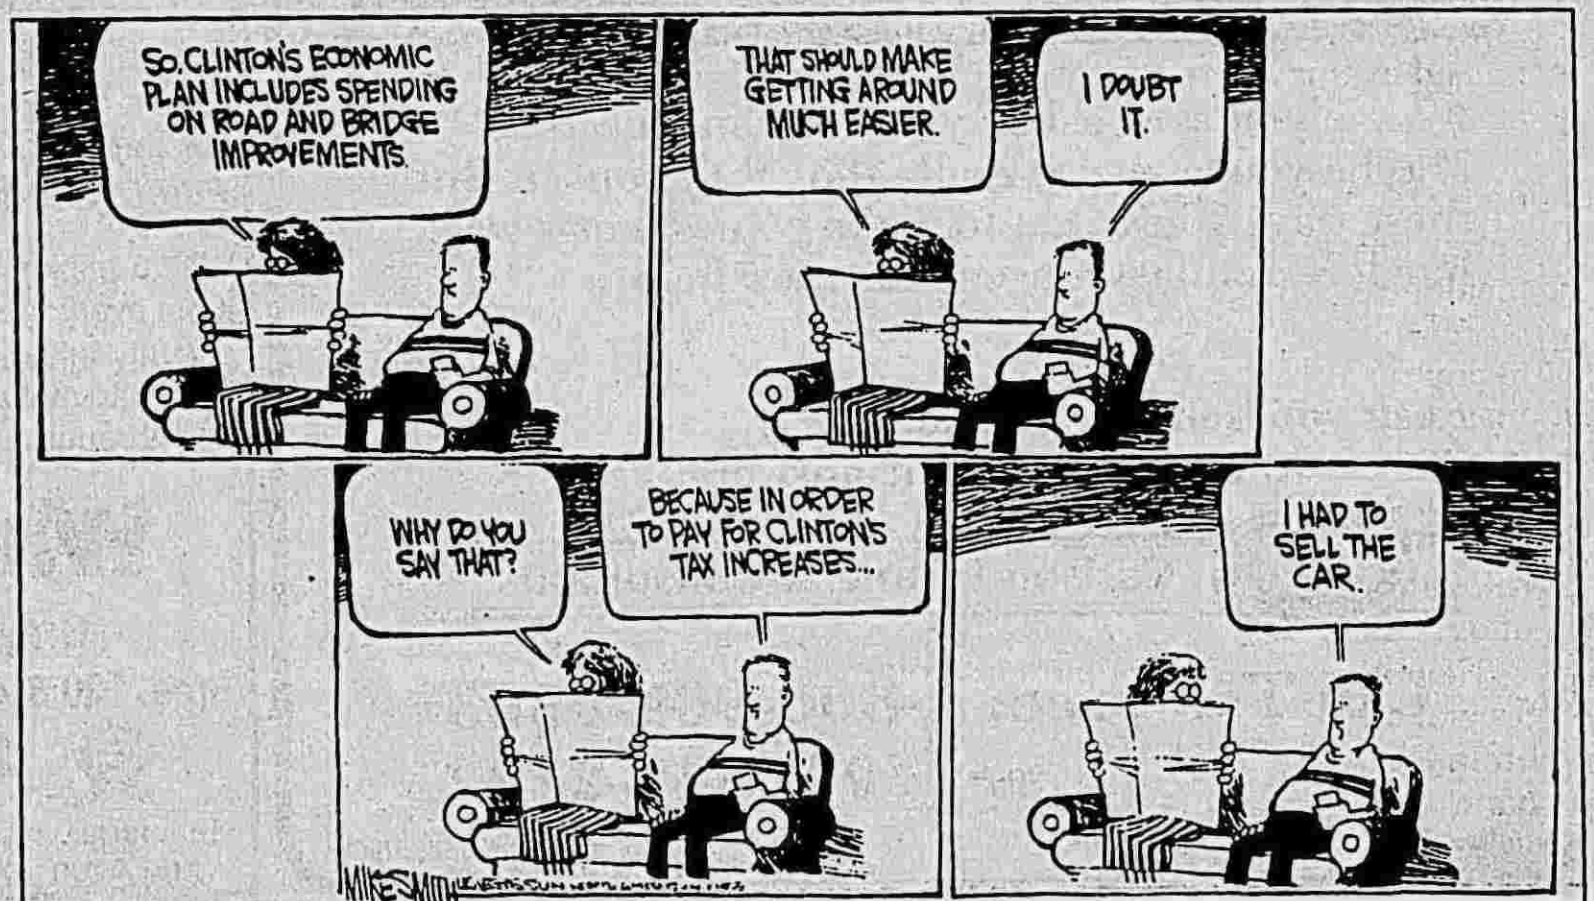

As might be expected, any type of housing—single family, multiple family stacked homes (whatever they are), mobile homes and either hotels or motels are permitted. Also under "suburban" zoning, your "neighbor" could be a junkyard, a rendering or tanning plant, a slaughter house, lumber sales, a petroleum or chemical refining plant, an airport—Enough! Can anyone doubt why surrounding residential neighbors and area villages are so fearful of "suburban" zoning?

In a resolution to the Lake County Board, EHS/GS narrowed the list of potential uses of its 41 acres to exclude most of the highly inappropriate industrial and commercial categories allowed under the "suburban" zoning, the legality of such a resolution may not be permissible under Illinois law. In fact the resolution has a section that addresses the legality of the resolution, claiming that if the resolution is found to be unconstitutional under Illinois law, only the restrictions in the resolution would be affected, and the "suburban" zoning would remain intact.

Now if EHS/GS can comprise lists of uses it does and does not want for this 41 acres, it appears that they must have some intended use in mind for this property. After all, why go ahead and just rezone 41 acres? They have the ability to add 250,000 square feet of buildings to their present campus.

NBAA has consistently acknowledged EHS/GS's right to come forth with a development plan. A planned development appropriate with our countryside community. Since Lake County zoning ordinances do not have provisions for a planned development, NBAA urges EHS/GS to withdraw its county rezoning request. End the threat of anything-goes "suburban" permissiveness. Return to Lake Barrington and fashion a common-sense solution right here in Barrington. Zoning is first and foremost a local matter. NBAA believes everyone will benefit from such a course.

Now is good time to take a look at your nest egg

Today's retirees are enjoying an unprecedented lifestyle of leisure, travel and good health. And with longer life expectancies, you're likely to spend 20 to 30 more years enjoying this phase of your life.

While you may think it's time to get conservative with your money, think again. "One of the major threats to a secure retirement income is the rising cost of living, or inflation. Inflation, even at a modest three to four percent annually, can slowly eat away your nest egg's purchasing power. Taxes, too, will continue to have an impact on your retirement income," said Bill Chapman, executive vice president at Kemper Mutual Funds. "One way to help protect your assets is to diversify."

"As the following examples suggest, consider putting a healthy portion of your money into growth-oriented investments, even in your retirement years. Then, gradually replace growth with income-producing investments as you get older," said Chapman.

New retirees (age 55 to 64)

- Investment horizon: Twenty to 30 years.

- Investment strategy: Organize and possibly consolidate accounts; set up a long-term care fund; emphasize growth investments.

- Your investment portfolio could look like this: Forty percent in growth-oriented investments; 40 percent in income-producing investments; 20 percent in stable principal.

Mid retirees (age 65 to 75)

- Investment horizon: Fifteen to 20 years.

- Investment strategy: Set up trusts, other estate planning to protect assets for heirs; re-evaluate income needs and consider setting up a systematic withdrawal plan; shift larger portion of assets to income-producing investments; consider tapping IRAs.

- Your investment portfolio could look like this: Thirty percent in growth-oriented investments; 50 percent in income-producing investments; 20 percent in stable principal.

Seasoned retirees (age 70+)

- Investment horizon: Ten to 15 years.

- Investment strategy: Increase gifting and charitable contributions to help protect assets from estate taxes; begin tapping IRAs; maximize income investments.

- Your investment portfolio could look like this: Sixty percent in income-producing investments; 20 percent in growth-oriented investments; 20 percent in stable principal.

Use duration to measure bond funds

According to Kemper's Fixed Income Portfolio Strategist Ron Schumacher, monitoring a fund's duration is an effective way to both track risk and gain insight to your portfolio manager's view of the direction of interest rates.

Duration is a weighted average of the time it takes for an investor to recoup his investment. The longer the duration, the longer the time and the more sensitive the investment is to interest rate changes.

Schumacher gives a quick rule of thumb for estimating the effect that fluctuating interest rates may have on a fund: Take the fund's duration and multiply it by the rise (or fall) in interest rates.

For example, if your fund's duration is five years and interest rates fall one percent, the value of the fund rises five percent. A one percent increase in rates would result in a five percent decline in value. The price change would be about half as much, for a half percent interest rate move. It follows, then, that funds with shorter durations tend to be less interest rate-sensitive than funds with longer durations.

"Portfolio managers adjust duration according to what they expect interest rates to do. Duration would be extended. See NEST EGG page B9

There certainly is life after a heart attack

Cardiac rehabilitation means training someone who has had a heart attack to lead a normal life. It is a very positive procedure and involves not only those responsible for the training but also the patient.

It is definitely a two-way street. The restoration concerns mental and physical strength. The patient may have to be retrained for another job. For example, the man who is a heavy machine operator must be retrained. Easter said than done, perhaps, but that should be the aim.

Because of refinements in the diagnosis of coronary heart disease, doctors are now diagnosing minor degrees of heart attacks that would have been missed years ago.

Thirty years ago, a person with a recognized coronary was put to bed and kept there for four to six weeks, hardly allowed to move hand or foot. Now the patient is allowed out of bed a few days after the attack, provided that pulse, blood pressure, EKG readings and other signs are not grossly abnormal.

Movement around the bed and then through the halls is monitored, and any deterioration dictates a return to total bedrest for a few more days.

Within a few days, he may be doing knee bends at the foot of the bed under the watchful eye of the physical therapist, and encouraged to think the attack has already been overcome.

Of course, progress is relevant to the severity of the attack. In over-simplified terms, pain, shock and sometimes collapse depend on the degree of blockage of the affected coronary artery, as well as the degree of interference with the heart muscle and its effectiveness in pumping blood around the body.

Patients who have had a minor attack respond well to early rehabilitation. They go home with instructions to gradually increase their movement about the house and to take walks outside.

Hopefully, the patient may resume work in six to eight weeks, after which time it is safe to drive a car.—by DR. ROBERT KETTRICK ed, for example, by a manager who expects interest rates to fall and wants to position the portfolio to be more price-sensitive. If rates fall, the portfolio will gain in value at a faster rate," said Schumacher. "In 1994, after a turbulent four months and three interest rate hikes, durations are being shortened."

Use 'barbell' to strengthen net assets

To help reduce interest rate risk, investors should consider using a "barbell" investment strategy. Schumacher says that a barbell strategy can be an effective way to temper the effect of rates on longer maturity instruments without significantly reducing a total return potential.

Using a hypothetical example, a 50/50 "barbell," or split, between a U.S. government bond fund and a short-intermediate government bond fund can reduce average duration (the time it takes to recoup your investment) and net asset value volatility versus a U.S. government bond fund alone.

Whichever fund family an investor chooses, a barbell strategy can help their assets better withstand rate fluctuations without sacrificing total return potential.

Vegetarian meals are as old as the theory of relativity

People have been eating vegetarian meals for thousands of years. Leonardo Da Vinci, Albert Einstein and Mahatma Gandhi—all were advocated vegetarians. Today, vegetarian meals are attracting more and more attention as people are becoming worried about the dangers of consuming large amounts of animal by-products. According to the American Heart Assn. of Metropolitan Chicago, vegetarian meals can help reduce the risk of heart disease, high blood pressure and obesity. The American Dietetic Assn. has also determined that vegetarian meals are healthful and nutritionally adequate when appropriately planned. It is important, however, that vegetarian meals be well planned to ensure adequate nutrient intake.

To help plan a healthy vegetarian meal, the American Heart Assn. of Metropolitan Chicago offers the following nutritional guidelines for consuming protein, iron and calcium.

Protein

A commonly asked question is, "Will vegetarian meals provide enough protein to meet my needs?" Yes, they will. Contrary to what most people think, protein comes from both plant and animal sources. In fact, all plant products contain protein, although fruits have very little.

Another misconception is that plant protein is not as nutritional as animal protein. They key to consuming protein quality equal to or above that of meat proteins is the combination of whole grains and legumes.

Most Americans consume twice the amount of protein they need on a daily basis by eating too many meat and dairy products. The AHA-MC recommends limiting meat to six cooked ounces per day as well as increasing the use of complex carbohydrates, such as rice, beans and pasta.

Iron

Vegetarians and non-vegetarians alike may have trouble meeting the recommendations for iron. Some good sources of iron are dried beans, spinach, broccoli, beet greens, bulgur, prune juice and dried fruit. To increase iron absorption by the body, add a vitamin C rich food such as citrus fruit or juices, tomatoes, broccoli or green pepper at a meal. Cooking food, particularly tomatoes, in iron cookware also adds iron. Consuming milk and/or eggs on a daily or weekly basis also can contribute to adequate iron intake.

Calcium

Vegetables are a good source of calcium. Dark, leafy greens are actually much richer in calcium per calorie than cow's milk. Collard greens, broccoli, tofu (prepared with calcium) and low-fat dairy products are other good sources of calcium.

Two points to remember about healthy vegetarian meals: Eat a wide variety of foods including fruits, vegetables, whole grains and legumes; and limit the intake of sweets and fatty foods.

The American Heart Assn. of Metropolitan Chicago is the Chicago area's largest voluntary health organization dedicated to the reduction of disability and death from cardiovascular diseases and stroke. Funds raised by AHA-MC support research, education and community programs in Cook, DuPage and Lake Counties. For more information about the American Heart Assn., call (312)346-4675.

Vegetarian Chili

1 cup dry kidney beans
6 cups water
3 Tbls. acceptable vegetable oil
2 cups chopped onions
2 cups chopped green bell peppers
2 cloves garlic, minced
1 cup no-salt added canned tomatoes, chopped

2 cups water
1 cup bulgur
1 1/2 Tbls. chili powder
1/4 tsp. cayenne powder
1/2 tsp. ground black pepper
2 Tbls. ground cumin
1 Tbl. fresh lemon juice

Soak beans overnight in 3 cups of water. Drain beans and place them in a large saucepan. Add 3 cups of fresh water and cook uncovered, 1 1/2 hours or until tender. Drain, rinse and set aside.

In a large saucepan or Dutch oven, place oil, onions, green peppers and garlic. Sauté 8 to 10 minutes, or until vegetables are soft. Add tomatoes, 2 cups of water and bulgur. Simmer 45 to 60 minutes. Add cooked kidney beans and remaining ingredients and cook an additional 10 minutes. Serve hot. Makes 6 servings.

Nutrient Analysis: 338 calories, 8 fat grams, 1 sat fat gram, 0 milligrams cholesterol, 32 milligrams sodium.

Show 'n Tell Festival demonstrates careers, hobbies

Making sauerkraut is just one of an eclectic mix of vocations and avocations to be exhibited at "Show 'N Tell,"

SPENCER SCHEIN

Staff Reporter

Listening to lectures can only do so much for relating information from one person to another. This is the premise behind the Show 'n Tell Festival being held at the Ela Presbyterian Church in Kildeer.

What started out as a way to entertain foreign guests during their stay in America blossomed into a festival showing different careers and hobbies people have.

Lake Zurich resident Jane Ware Davenport is the one who first designed the idea for an event in Riverwoods several years back.

Designing and managing events is what she does for a living, and it came in handy the time a group of visitors from Lima, Peru stopped by. The only thing she could think of to entertain them and show them about this country was to hold a cultural fair, with different people exhibiting what they do.

After being put on the shelf for several years, Davenport resurrected the festival as a way to help promote a new church in Ela Township.

Patterned after arts and crafts fairs, the festival is unique in showcasing creativity of any kind, not just the visual or craft arts, she said.

Exhibitors will show work they themselves do and "show 'n tell" how they do it, what is involved in doing it, why it's done and answer any questions, she added.

Among the close to 50 exhibitors planning to attend the fair Aug. 28 from noon to 2 p.m. at May Whitney School, 120 Church St., is a man who has designed a machine that cooks a hot dog in one second, and another man from Libertyville who will talk about learning to be a clown. A video presentation on clowning shows will be shown, and costumes and make up will be demonstrated and explained. The skill of juggling and making balloon animals will also be taught.

Other exhibitors include an architect who will demonstrate the use of computers in designing homes, a hot air balloonist, several people demonstrating quilting techniques from the present and past, and a Kraft market researcher.

Davenport said young people who are curious about various careers, such as designing food equipment, food science, and others will never have an opportunity to get such a close look at what it is really like to work in these fields.

LAKELIFE

Twins double their fun at festival

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

Nestled in the rolling hills of Summit County, the town of Twinsburg, Ohio comes alive every year as twins, triplets, quads, and quintos meet, along with their parents and siblings, at the world's largest twins convention. For Lake County twins Colleen and Eileen Downing, this was their second trip to the Twins Days Festival.

"We went in 1990 and intended to go back," said the twin's mom Ann Downing of Grayslake. "I thought it was a great time."

The Twins Days Festival is a celebration of the uniqueness of sharing a womb, and often a life with a same-age-sibling. And, that is a special relationship.

"The festival is just wonderful, said identical twins Jeff and Steve from Dayton, Ohio. "It is our bonding place." For these twins it is their seventh year at the Twins Day Festival.

Just to get an idea of where twins stand, the world-wide count of individual twins is about 125 million. For fertile women in the general population that means roughly one in 80 births.

Identical twins, which are conceived from the fertilization of a single egg, occur in, what is believed a random event, one in 250 births. But, however they are conceived, consider the fact the new parents face roughly 640 diaper changes in the first month. More importantly, women over the age of 35 face a ten-fold chance of having twins.

Besides an opportunity to spend some time with other multiples throughout the world, there is, of course, more to the Twins Days Festival. The festival offers twins con-

"We went in 1990 and intended to go back, I thought it was a great time."

—Ann Downing,
Mother of twins

sults, a cookout, a 5K run, a pancake breakfast, a fireworks display, field games, a golf outing, a huge parade, petting zoos, pony rides, kiddy rides, and educational lectures. Even more importantly, the festival offers an opportunity to join the "most studied subculture" with researchers.

One of the more serious aspects of the festival is the opportunity for research teams to gather information. Researchers often use the "twin paradigm," to study the role of heredity in the development of disease.

"You can look at it as 'Why do people get (a particular disease) and others don't?'" explained Festival Research Director Donald Keith. Keith, along with his twin brother, Dr. Louis Keith, co-founded the Center for the Study of Multiple Birth in Chicago.

This year's researchers at the festival were gathering information about the relative importance of genetic and environmental factors in determining body fat mass, the genetics of hypertension, genetic profiles in identical twins with asthma, genetic and environmental factors in personality development. Economic and psychological information was also evaluated by researchers this year.

The Twins Days Festival began in 1976, and is preparing for its upcoming 20th anniversary. Since its inception, the festival has grown 32,000 percent, from a budget of $250 to an estimated budget of $230,000 in 1994.

One of the best parts of the festival experience, is, of course, twin-watching. The care and preparation some twins make to appear identical is remarkable. The Downing twins were no exception.

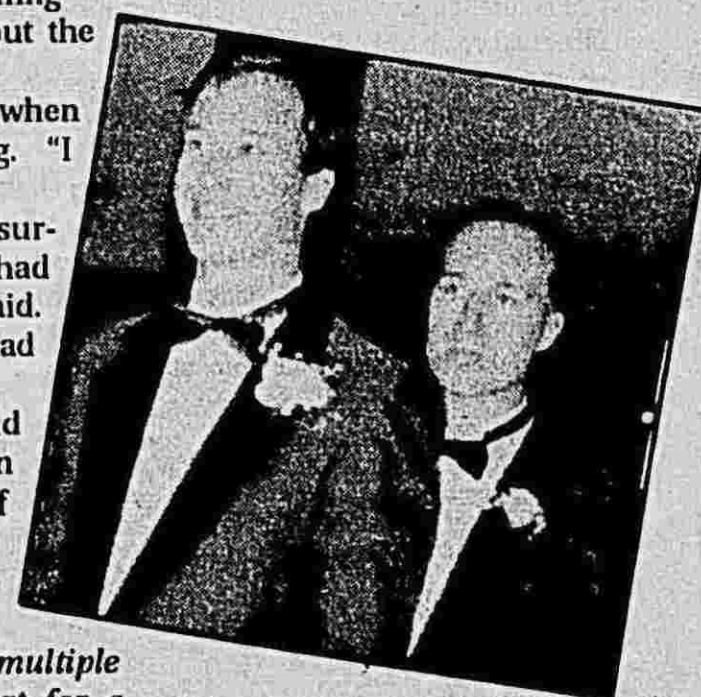

"They picked out three or four matching outfits for the festival," said Ann. However, she joked, "I think I get into it more than they do." Downing regrets that she did not learn about the festival sooner.

"I would have really loved it when they were younger," said Downing. "I just didn't know about it."

Downing also said she was surprised to run into other twins they had met in 1990. "It was funny," she said. "We ran into a lot of people we had met before. I think it is just great."

Next year's festival will be held the first full weekend in August in Twinsburg, which is just outside of Cleveland, Ohio. To get more information about next year's festivities call (216) 425-3652.

If you're a twin or parent of multiple births, contact Claudia M. Lenart for a future feature on area twins, 223-8161.

Kids FARE

Festival of the arts expands children's program

The David Adler Cultural Center will present Festival of the Arts '94 Sept. 10 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sept. 11 from noon to 5 p.m. This year's expanded children's program will include "Reggae Man." A collaborative children's effort, "Reggae Man" is a life-size sculpture made of wood, chicken wire, cloth scraps, yarn and dyed fabrics.

Created by the children who attended the 3rd Annual Children's Art Fair at the Cuneo Museum and Gardens, this sculpture has captured the hearts of the children in the community. Children attending Festival of Arts '94 will have an opportunity to continue work on "Reggae Man" and create his new companion piece in the Children's Art Yard on Sept. 10 and 11.

Adler art faculty, board members and volunteers will be encouraging kids to create, explore and experiment throughout the day. A variety of activities including portrait painting, clay play, face painting (provided by the Kohl's Children Museum) and jewelry making will be available, plus children will have the opportunity to work on the potter's wheel. The Children's Art Yard has been designed to encourage children to work with professional arts and craftspeople and enhance their experience of quality fine arts and crafts exhibited at the Festival of Arts.

Children's activities set

outing for a late-summer weekend. The festival, scheduled for Saturday, Aug. 27 and Sunday, Aug. 28 in the downtown Elgin Civic Center Plaza, literally offers something for everyone, including pint-sized visitors.

There is a special area, just for kids, on the East Bank of the Fox River, with the children's entertainment stage across the bridge on Walton Island.

From 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday children will be invited to participate in Art and Crafts, a moon walk, mural painting and sand castle building. During this time the Elgin Public Museum will offer button making, nature painting and a nature scavenger hunt. The Children's Discover Museum of Elgin will provide face painting and bubble making.

Children, parents and grandparents will enjoy a wide variety of entertainment during the festival. On Saturday, Shanta will present "Stories and Songs of African People" at 11 a.m., followed by the Illustrated Theatre's Summer Celebration at 12:30 p.m. Captain Black will host a Treasure hunt at 2 p.m., with a puppet show by the Damen Avenue Puppeteers at 3:30 p.m.

Entertainment begins at noon on Sunday with Storyteller Donna Dettman's "Frogs and Other Princes." The Highland Dancers perform at 1 p.m., followed by "Scales and Tales" with Beth Bishop and her exotic animals. The entertainment wraps up with a program by the Rope Warrior called "Rope Jumping in a New Dimension" at 3 p.m.

The Elgin Fine Arts Festival offers the A.A.U.W. ## Cancun, Mexico's paradise beach resort

PRESIDENT, NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

Anyone interested in a vacation spot boasting uncrowded white sand beaches, crystal clear waters, no rainy season and less than a three and one-half hour plane ride away? The place is Cancun.

As a service to my readers, I felt it necessary to fly down and explore this land of beaches and sun. I'm not one who likes man-made tourist attractions. Though Cancun (pronounced Conzun) was planned by the Mexican Tourist Agency, the natural beauty here was not created by man.

The city of Cancun is not likely to be the location of your resort. True, there are some bargain hotels in the city, but you're a 20-minute bus ride from any beaches.

Plane your stay in what is known as the hotel zone, or "Zona Turistica". This is a 15-mile-long 1/4-mile-wide island connected to the mainland by bridges. The front yard of your hotel will be the Caribbean. The back will be the crystal clear Laguna Bojorquez. Cancun's rigid building codes should prevent this area from losing its natural beauty like many other beach resorts. Hotels are not on top of each other and you'll find no neon lights.

The island is "L" shaped. If you want to be close to shopping, restaurants and nightspots, choose a hotel on the shorter east-west part of the "L". These hotels also face the calmer waters of the bay.

If you want a little more seclusion, try something on the south end of the island. Much of that end of the island is just beginning to be developed. Resorts on the north-south leg face the ocean, with stronger waves than the bay.

Remember the warning, "don't drink the water in Mexico?" No worry here. A brand new filtration plant was constructed to supply purified tap water. My only advice would be to avoid food from street vendors. (But I'd say that about Chicago, too).

CRITIC'S CHOICE

Michael Etzweiler and Barbara Helms in "Strike up the Band."

'Strike Up the Band' a bit cheesy

Pegasus Players serves up a frothy musical anti-war spoof in "Strike Up the Band," based on a 1927 production drawn from a book by George S. Kaufman and music and lyrics by George and Ira Gershwin.

Backed by five musicians, the cast of 21 enthusiastically dances and sings, belting out gems from yesteryear such as "I've Got a Crush on You," "Soon" and "Strike Up the Band."

The two-act play, being staged at Chicago's Ivanhoe Theater, is a silly tale about a big-egoed cheesemaker who stirs up a full-scale war between the U.S. and Switzerland—all over the price of cheese!

Hamminess and overacting often get in the way of what might once have been an amusing comedy. Marc Silvia goes overboard in his role as the obtrusive messenger.

The humor in general, including dated clichés and idiotic plotting, is often so dated that it fails to make the transition to the 1990s. A cheesy set adds little to round out the rough edges.

Director William Pullinsi has assembled some talented performers, especially Matt McDonald as Fletcher, a food processor who wants the war named after him, and Michael Webber, his bad-guy foreman.

But is that enough to qualify "Strike Up the Band," playing through Oct. 16, as anything more than a curiosity piece?—by TOM WITOM

Laurino joins Benny Center faculty

Pasquale Laurino will join the faculty of the Jack Benny Center for the Arts in the fall session. Laurino has been the concertmaster of the Waukegan Symphony Orchestra during the past several seasons. He is also concertmaster of the Milwaukee Ballet Orchestra, the Waukesha Symphony, the Bel Canto Chamber Orchestra, the Riverside Theater Orchestra and the Pamino Opera.

Currently on the faculty of Carroll College in Waukesha, Wis., Laurino teaches violin, viola and chamber music. His experience has also taken him into the realm of conducting. Currently he is an active clinician and teacher. He has been in Master Classes with Joseph Gingold, Aaron Rosand, Daniel Heifetz, Henri Temianka, Richard Burgin, Charles Treger and J. Patrick Rafferty. Laurino earned his bachelor of music in performance at Indiana Univ.-Bloomington in 1982.

He joins Marilyn Shonfeld, Kate Dudley and Michelle Welch on the violin faculty of the Benny Center. The fall session begins the week of Sept. 12. For more information contact the Jack Benny Center for the Arts at 360-4740.

LIFE'S A BEAR

You ain't nothin' but a hound dog, Billie Jean

Elvis must be rocking and rolling over in his grave.

The announcement of the Lisa Marie Presley/Michael Jackson marriage is probably the most bizarre story I have heard yet. And that's a mighty big accomplishment considering the past year's hot news items like terrible Tonya Harding, O. J. Simpson, the Clintons' assorted scandals, and last but not least the Bobbitts (who run a very close second in the bizarre department - a real, cutting edge couple.)

I have decided to try and open my mind to the possibility that they are just your average, legendary, disgustingly rich, weird musical couple in love. A merger, so to speak. It could happen. I mean, I could win the Pulitzer prize for this column, too (who snickered? I heard that!). Or my kids might start keeping their rooms clean every day (now there's a stretch). Anyway, miracles are possible, so I'm going to help you start picturing Lisa Marie and Michael as a newly married couple. Here's how a typical conversation might go:

Michael: "So, Lisa, how did you like riding my roller coaster, the Thriller?"

Lisa: "Uh, huh, huh—I'm all shook up. I'm hungry, too. Let's get some jelly donuts."

Michael: "Ooo, hoo, hoo. Sounds great, Ben, I mean, babe."

Lisa: "But first, Michael, can I ask you a question? Do we really need all these animals?"

I don't mean to be cruel, but changing monkey diapers was not something I had in mind when we got married. I just want you to be my teddy bear."

Michael: "You're right. I'm bad, I know it. The monkeys will be gone, ABC, easy as 1,2,3."

Lisa: "One more thing, darlin'. Not that I have a suspicious mind, or anything, but who was that Billie Jean who called earlier?"

Michael: "Her? Oh, don't worry. Billie Jean is not my lover, she's just a girl who thinks that I am the one, but the kid is not my son."

Lisa: "That's good, darlin'. Otherwise, you'd be spending the night at Heartbreak Hotel."

Michael: "Ooo, hoo, hoo!"

If this marriage works out, there might be a run on musical mergers. Who knows? Maybe Mick Jagger and Yoko Ono will tie the knot next. Imagine that.

You may say I'm a dreamer. But I'm not the only one—so get off my cloud, okay?

Bowen Park Theatre selects candidates

The Bowen Park Theatre Co. has selected three artistic director candidates to direct its three subscription series plays during the 1994-95 season. They include Paul Carlin of Waukegan, Maura Manning of Glen Ellyn, and Timothy Troy of Racine, Wis.

Carlin will direct the opening show of the season which will be Anthony Shaffer's "keep-you-guessing" mystery "Sleuth." "Sleuth" will be presented Sept. 16 through Oct. 8. Carlin recently moved from New York where he directed the "Last Tape," and "A Child's Christmas in Wales." He was also the soap's first hair-dyed punk, Craig LeWinter on Ryan's Hope.

Manning will direct Athol Fugard's powerful drama "Boesman and Lena" in March of 1995. Manning recently moved to Glen Ellyn from North Carolina. She has a considerable background directing plays in San Jose and Santa Clara, Calif. She worked as assistant director at UNC-Greensboro, College of Notre Dame, Santa Clara Theatre, and the San Jose Civic Light Opera. While in Japan with her husband, an employee of AT&T, Manning founded and directed the Yokosuka Theatre Group.

Troy will direct the third show of the season, Alan Ayckbourn's comedy "How the Other Half Loves." Troy directed at Lawrence Univ. in Appleton, Wis. as well as Milwaukee, Iowa City, Chicago and Madison. He has directed for Teatro Latino, Boulevard Ensemble, the Univ. of Wisconsin-Madison, the Attic Theatre, and DuPage Opera. He holds a MFA from the Univ. of Iowa in theatre arts/directing.

Jim Neal remains technical director of the Bowen Park Theatre Co. Rhonda Anderson, long time resident stage manager, has moved into the position of production manager. Ken Kauzlaric remains costume master of the company.

Season tickets may be purchased by calling the Jack Benny Center for the Arts at 360-4741.

Good Food Try Mayan mystery salad

CLAUDIA M. LENART

Regional Editor

Forget the stereotype that all teens want is pizza and burgers. The National Turkey Federation held a Turkey Lover's Recipe Contest for Teens and they are cooking some highly sophisticated dishes that are keeping up with food trends.

Turkey lovers can send for a brochure featuring the five winning recipes and five honorable mentions by sending a self-addressed, stamped, business-size envelope to: Teen Brochure, National Turkey Federation, 11319 Sunset Hills Road, Reston, Virginia, 22090.

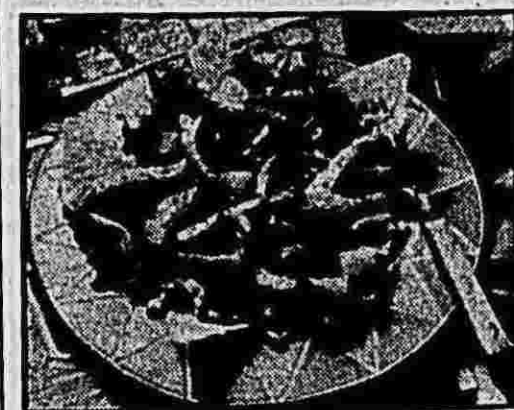

The following recipe was the winner, created by 16-year-old Heather Joy of Alameda, Calif.

Mayan Mystery Salad

Vinaigrette

- 1/2 cup olive oil
- 2 tablespoons red wine vinegar
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon black pepper
- 1/2 teaspoon each dried oregano leaves and salt
- 1/8 teaspoon grated lemon peel

In small bowl whisk together oil, vinegar, lemon juice, pepper, oregano, salt and lemon peel, set aside.

Salad

- 1 can (11 ounces) corn with red and green peppers
- 1 can (15 ounces) black beans, rinsed and drained
- 1 jalapeno pepper, seeded and diced
- 1 can (4 ounces) sliced black olives
- 1 small onion, peeled and diced
- 1 pound turkey breast cut-

- lets, cut into 1/4 inch strips
- 1 tablespoon chili powder
- 1 teaspoon cumin
- 1/2 teaspoon each lemon pepper and garlic salt
- 1 tablespoon canola oil
- 1 avocado, peeled, seeded and diced
- 1 papaya peeled seeded and diced
- 6 cups green leaf lettuce
- 4 cups thin white corn chips

In large bowl combine corn, black beans, jalapeno pepper, olives, onion, and 1/4 cup vinaigrette. Cover and refrigerate 2 hours.

In large bowl combine turkey, chili powder, cumin, lemon pepper and garlic salt; toss to coat well. In large non-stick skillet, over medium high heat, sauté turkey in oil 4 to 5 minutes or until turkey is no longer pink.

Just before serving, add turkey, avocado and papaya to corn/bean mixture. Arrange 1 cup lettuce on each of six plates. Top with 1 1/3 cup corn chips, 2 cups salad and drizzle with vinaigrette.

Movie Pick

'Army' worst flick of year to date

The entire idea of the Persian Gulf War has lost some of its luster in the aftermath and to help that along we have comedian Pauly Shore taking part in it in "In the Army Now."

Some of this review may be biased since this reviewer has never dug Shore's comedic ways, stand-up on MTV, in "The Son-In-Law," or wherever.

We thought "The Son-In-Law" was a less-than-mediocre comedy, but compared to "In the Army Now," it was a laughfest.

Shore plays a salesman who joins the Army Reserve for the money and ends up in the Persian Gulf. Here he gets into the usual Abbot and Costello boot camp trouble while operating under a drill sergeant a lot more attractive than Low Gusset, Jr. was in "Officer and a Gentleman."

His usual obnoxious personality has been traded for a more bearable one in "Army," but his comedy level remains on that of the teenage MTV watchers, just a percentage of the movie-going public.

We did smile at his stupid antics a few times, but soon got the feeling that this movie was five hours long, especially towards the end where the idiot soldier becomes an heroic idol. Sure he is!

Just because this was supposed to be a comedy, but it barely kept us awake long enough to grimace, we give

"Army" a one out of five stars rating. Maybe the pic will do better in France, after all they still laugh at Jerry Lewis. We wouldn't even rent it at the video store.—by

Quality infant, toddler care providers needed

The need for responsible and nurturing individuals to provide quality infant and toddler care in their home is ever increasing. One can help fill this need by joining in the network of Family Home Day Care providers being formed by the new Lake County Business Partnership Child Care Initiative (CCI). The CCI is a unique partnership between Lake County corporations, child welfare agencies, and day care providers to increase the availability and quality of infant and toddler home day care.

Providers in the CCI receive ongoing support to help in the development of their careers. Information and workshops given include help to set-up the business, to secure your license, to sharpen skills on working with children and parents, and CPR/First Aid training. Ongoing technical assistance and referrals are provided. Some equipment assistance may also be available to prepare your home.

For further information on becoming a provider call, Dena Thompson at ChildServ, 263-2200.

Landscape design is important function

One of the nicest settings of plants and building that I've seen and experienced lately is St. Patrick's Church in Wadsworth. As you stand in the nave (main body of the church) and face the altar, a beautiful grove of oaks is visible, since most of the back wall of the church is glass. A feeling of being one with nature truly exists in this church.

As I questioned a few people, I found out this church was designed and overseen by Belli & Belli, architects from Wheeling. They specialize in the designing of churches worldwide.

This wonderful architecture can be duplicated, in a less dramatic fashion, in a home. The first thing that comes to mind is one's favorite room of the house, which hopefully has a lot of windows and a view. If the view has existing large trees, be sensitive to this and design keeping vegetation in mind.

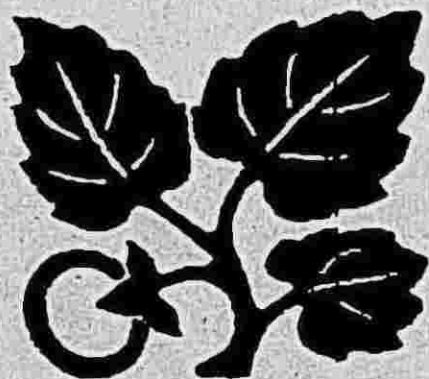

You may have a terrible view of a neighbor's utility shed or some unsightly pile of wood, debris, etc. Turn this into a positive, functional view for yourself by planting either multi-stemmed ornamentals or trees with a mix of conifers.

In landscape design, function is extremely important, and a lot of the time we forget this. Function, however, combined with aesthetics will emit powerful responses in oneself.

Many homes have decks and/or patios that are used in the spring, summer and fall. The area around this can be designed in a way that even in the cold of winter, one can gaze out and enjoy the view. Also, don't be afraid to plant close to your home to exaggerate the feeling of being at one with nature. If the plants are maintained, this is very effective.

Consult with your landscaper, or visit neighboring nurseries for ideas on plants, their growth characteristics and any interesting or different aspects about a plant.—by MIKE GRECO, landscape architect/owner of Mill Creek Nursery, Wadsworth.

Sample famous chef's cuisine at 14th annual benefit

Meet one of America's best chefs and taste the best Lake County's finest chefs have to offer at the 14th annual Famous Chef Cuisine benefit presented by Victory Hospital Foundation from 3 to 8 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 18. World-famous Chef Paul Prudhomme, known as the Cajun Chef, will be the featured guest at this year's event. He will join dozens of gourmet and specialty restaurants from throughout Lake County at Midlane Country Club, 14565 Yorkhouse Rd., Wadsworth, in a celebration of good food.

Chef Paul will judge the finalists in the Chef Cuisine Gumbo Cook-off, one of the highlights of this year's benefit. He will choose two outstanding gumbo recipes as the grand winners of the cooking competition. One winner will be judged among professional chef entrants, the other among amateur chef entrants. Each grand winner will be awarded framed Gumbo Chef certificates and Gumbo Cook-off trophies.

The $25 ticket price provides guests an opportunity to taste the best recipes of area chefs. Guests will also have the chance to learn "tricks of the trade" at live cooking demonstrations and enjoy the creativity of master ice sculptors. Each guest at Chef Cuisine will also receive a complimentary 1994 Chef Cuisine Gourmet Recipe Booklet, including recipes from participating restaurants.

Proceeds from the benefit will support the HealthReach Clinic,

Lake County's non-profit community volunteer effort for the medically underserved of the community. Tickets are available for $25 per person in advance by calling 360-4246 or $30 per person at the door on Sept. 18. Patron tickets are available for $125, which includes two tickets to Chef Cuisine and a listing in the program booklet.

Chef Karl's Edelweiss-Inn offers authentic cuisine & atmosphere

If you're searching for a restaurant that features authentic German cuisine, you can end your search at Chef Karl's Edelweiss-Inn, located at 411 E. Park Ave. in Libertyville, two blocks east of Milwaukee Ave. The restaurant enjoys an excellent reputation in Libertyville, and will celebrate its 25th anniversary next month.

As Chef Karl says, "Why pay $800 on airfare to Munich when we've got it all here!" The atmosphere is one of elegance and fine dining, and the cuisine is sure to please everyone. Chef Karl offers daily specials, some of which include Long Island Duck, Hungarian Veal Goulash, and Prime Rib, just to name a few. Chef Karl even offers fresh Martha's Vineyard jumbo oysters. And for dessert, try the fresh Apple Strudel with whipped cream. Other menu items include Sauerbraten, Weinerschnitzel, Black Angus Filet, Sautéed Chicken Breast, and Broiled Norwegian Salmon. Chef Karl also recommends the Pork Roast with fried cabbage for only $8.75. For the kids, there is a children's menu with most of the items under $6.

Chef Karl said that on Thursday and Friday for lunch, he will cook behind the bar, which seats 24. He recommends calling for reservations in the morning of the day your group would like to participate. Chef Karl will prepare a menu with 10-12 fresh items and says "it's fun for me to do, and also fun for the customers."

Chef Karl says the Friday night Fish Fry is popular, with delicious Orange Roughy in beer batter, and fresh Lake Perch offered.

Although Chef Karl's menu changes with the seasons, you can usually find at least three or four varieties of fresh fish to choose from daily. More veal dishes are being added to the menu, said Chef Karl, due to a fresh shipment. Only the best will do for those dining at Edelweiss-Inn.

Chef Karl's Edelweiss-Inn is perfect for anyone who enjoys great food and authentic German atmosphere. Hours are 11:30 to 2 for lunch, and 5 to 10 p.m. for dinner. Closed Sundays.

WHERE TO EAT OUT

FEATURE OF THE WEEK

A touch of Chicago in Lake County

Flanagan's is easily accessible, near the corner of Rtes. 41 and 137, just east of I-94 in North Chicago. It is clean, well decorated, and boasts extra space for banquets (one private room has 150 seats and another has 40). When walking into the main dining area, the vaulted ceiling leads your gaze up to a quaint, loft dining area. The tables are not pressed tightly together, leaving ample room to scoot your chair back and not bump into your neighbor behind you. John, the owner, is a cordial man and expects no less from his personnel. It shows. A quick, pleasant greeting is given to all visitors.

The menu is extensive, ranging from appetizers, sandwiches, seafood, soups, salads, desserts, to house specialties. If the rest of the menu doesn't have something for everyone, then the house specialties should fit the bill. Its 15 entrees include something Italian, Oriental and Mexican, in addition to the expected steak, pork chop and rib entrees.

The menu features modest pricing from the lowest entree under $5, while the highest is under $14. For your hard earned 14 bucks you'll get a full 16 ounce New York Strip with sautéed mushrooms. Included with all entrees are a choice of potato, soup or salad, fresh mixed vegetables and fresh baked rolls. You can be assured that neither your wallet or your stomach should be empty when you're finished eating.

To call Flanagan's both a sports bar and a family restaurant may seem ambiguous but it is not a misnomer at all. A truly separate section of the facility houses the Sports Bar. Behind the bar you'll see probably the largest selection of beers, imported and domestic, in Lake County. The already spacious area has expanded, adding an extra 100 seats. This also makes room for floor dancing, a pool table, and a basketball machine. With seven TVs—two of them are big screens—you'll always be assured of a front row seat.

Flanagan's does a good job of juggling separate identities, and is a good bet to ensure your dining entertainment.

Horoscope

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) You'll have a private discussion this week that relates to a business concern. A desire to consolidate your gains may have you working overtime. New opportunities of a financial nature arise. Exercise patience this week. Spend the weekend puttering around the house.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) You'll give valuable support to a friend this week. Your words of encouragement will be greatly appreciated. You may be asked to speak at a group meeting. A partner has a wonderful suggestion that you should go along with.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Couples will make important decisions involving the use of joint assets. You seem especially inspired where business and financial matters are concerned. You're enthusiastic about a new work-related project. A close tie needs advice.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) You may be socializing with some people you met through business. A home decorating or do-it-yourself project may be tops on your list of things to do today. You should probably go easy on the spending, but this week will bring more than one chance for good times.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Common sense and self-discipline combine to bring you success in whatever you undertake. This week, you're very much the workaholic. Money prospects look good. The weekend will be spent entertaining others in style.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) Partners work well together as a team this week. You'll be making important plans concerning children. Hobbies that stimulate you mentally are appealing. Later in the week, there's a delightful accent on leisure interests. The weekend accents romance.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Getting things done around the house may be a major concern. You'll reach a new level of understanding with a family member. In fact, family interests are highlighted.

A child may need your helpful advice later in the week.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) Both concentrative and creative powers are excellent. You may begin an important intellectual undertaking. Communications with others are also highlighted. It's perhaps better to visit with others than to have company over this weekend.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) It's a week that favors buying and selling. You'll attend to something that needs fixing. Midweek brings an important family discussion. You may receive a freelance opportunity to make extra money.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) You'll have a wealth of new ideas this week and others will be very impressed by what you have to say. This is an excellent time for reaching agreements. Benefits come through friendship. You may be invited to a gala affair this weekend.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) Time by yourself leads to important insights. You may be busy putting the finishing touches on a project. You'll want to be a step ahead of the competition and may decide to work extra hours on a career-related project.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) You'll be happy to do a favor for a friend this week. You'll find that you have much in common with a new acquaintance. Heart-to-heart talks are favored at home. It's a good week for making travel plans.

Bath and Tennis Club hosts MDA fund raiser

Correspondent

Area residents of all ages can spend Labor Day working for a good cause and have fun doing it.

The second annual Farmington MDA Fun Run/Walk to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association will take place on Monday, Sept. 5, at Kildeer's Farmington Bath and Tennis Club. The club is located on Long Grove Rd., three quarters of a mile east of Rte. 12.

Race day registration begins at 7:30 a.m. at the club. A 5K run/walk begins at 9 a.m., and a one-mile run/walk starts at 10 a.m.

"I want people to come and feel like they've contributed and yet have a fun time doing it," says Kildeer's Robin Sanchez, who organized the event.

The race will take participants over a scenic and rolling paved course. Water and aid stations will be located along the route.

Post-race activities will include refreshments, drawings for prizes, and presentation of awards to all 5K run winners. All of the children who participate in the event will receive ribbons. Trophies will be presented to first-place male and female finishers in the 5K run for each age group. All registrants and donors will be given a commemorative T-shirt.

Race day entry fees are $18 for adults and $15 for children age 12 and under. Proceeds go directly to the Muscular Dystrophy Assn., Sanchez said. "What you're giving may help to save a life."

Sanchez, whose 12-year-old son Christopher has Duchenne Muscular Dystrophy, initiated the Farmington benefit with the help of family and friends. She said she expects close to 200 participants in the Labor Day charitable event. Last year, about 100 people, mostly from Kildeer and Long Grove, took part.

"It's heartwarming to see that people do care," said Kim Welch, a Long Grove resident who helped coordinate publicity for the benefit. Welch hopes that this year's event will draw more people from surrounding areas.

For more information, contact Robin Sanchez at 438-7598.

Lake Forest Hospital joins Deerpath Med. Assoc.

With health care reform on the horizon, the first waves of the new era have hit the North Shore as Lake Forest Hospital and Deerpath Medical Associates announced the hospital's purchase of that primary-care practice. Here's what the partnership means to the communities served by the two organizations:

- Integration of a hospital with a physician practice—the first of its kind in Lake County.
- Benefits to the patient, including access to a large base of primary-care physicians and improved ease of access to hospital services.

The agreement is one component of the overall physician/hospital integration plan. The newly created, non-profit Lake Forest Physician Services (a subsidiary of the LFH Foundation) is reaching out to forge new relationships with physicians and develop an integrated health care delivery system. As that network of relationships evolves, the hospital will be able to establish common scheduling systems; share patient demographic and insurance information; link physician office and hospital-based medical records creating universal patient records; and over time consolidate services for greater efficiency and cost savings.

Deerpath Medical Associates was founded in 1978 by Drs. John Munsell and David Schimel, and has since expanded to 16 physicians and four sites to serve residents throughout Lake County. The practice's offices are located in Lake Bluff, Vernon Hills, Deerfield and Highland Park. The physician group focuses on primary care and includes specialization in dermatology, endocrinology, gastroenterology, geriatrics, hematology, infectious disease, oncology, ophthalmology and women's health.

"This innovative partnership is a result of a forward-thinking decision by key players in the county's health care delivery system to align the strengths of a superb primary care medical group with those of a high-quality hospital," said William Ries, Lake Forest Hospital president. "Health care reform and the corresponding shift to a managed care environment are making primary care the linchpin of our health care system. Combining the largest primary care group in Lake County with the hospital offering the lowest average per-case charges in Lake County provides meaningful value to the health care consumer."

St. Therese adds breast imaging system

A new imaging system for mammography, called the SureView ATS, was acquired by Saint Therese Medical Center, Waukegan. The system will be used at the medical center's treatment satellite in Lake Villa.

The SureView ATS brings state-of-the-art mammographic imaging to the surrounding community. The system's ATS—automatic technique selection—feature automatically designates the parameters for each mammogram based on the patient's breast density. This provides clarity and image consistency from exam to exam, which can help, over time, in screening for the development of breast cancer.

"The new system holds advantages for both the equipment operator and the patient," said Elaine Pape, director of radiology services for Saint Therese. "It is more comfortable for the patient and has a wide array of conveniences for the equipment operator, which can simplify and shorten exam times."

Hospice adult grief groups

The Hospice of Northeastern Illinois will offer a six-week support group for those who have lost a loved one again this season, entitled "From Grief to Hope."

Three locations to choose from are: the Barrington area, from Sept. 7 through Oct. 12, 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. on Wednesdays; in the Woodstock area, from Sept. 7 through Oct. 12, 7 to 9 p.m. on Wednesdays; or in the Arlington Heights area, from Oct. 6 through Nov. 10, 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. on Thursdays.

Laser breakthrough in the treatment of snoring

Dr. William Gatti, ear, nose and throat specialist with offices in Libertyville and Gurnee has introduced a new treatment that will revolutionize the way doctors treat snoring and sleep apnea. The new laser technology called Laser Assisted Uvula-Palatoplasty (LUAP) was brought to the country earlier this year from France where it has been used successfully for the past five years. The first to perform the procedure in Lake County, Dr. Gatti has performed over 150 laser surgeries.

Treatment consists of three to five office sessions—about 15 minutes each—where the uvula is reshaped and thinned using the laser technique. The procedure is done under local anesthesia. Patients report a mild sore throat when swallowing for a few days after the procedure and continue with the normal activity in every respect. Snoring reduction occurs almost immediately. Eating and speaking are not affected and there is no bleeding.

Snoring affects 21 million adults in the U.S. and is more frequent in males and overweight persons and usually grows worse with age. The American Academy of Otolaryngology has estimated that 25 percent of normal adults are habitual snorers and 45 percent snore at least occasionally.

The noisy sounds of snoring occur when there is an obstruction to the free flow of air through the passages at the back of the mouth and nose. Many times the problem is caused by a long palate that may narrow the opening from the nose into the throat—as it dangles in the airway, it acts as a “flutter valve” during relaxed breathing and contributes to the noise of snoring. A long uvula makes matters worse. The new laser technique eliminates this cause of snoring, according to Dr. Gatti.

Snoring can cause other family members sleepless nights and often restlessness. Because of spouse discomfort, numerous domestic quarrels can occur, and in some cases divorce. The snorer is an “asphyxia sufferer” who is unaware of the fact and fails to recognize, and therefore understand, the clinical disorders that arise as a result, according to Dr. Gatti.

Snoring is not only a social problem which is disruptive to family life, but can be a more serious condition called Obstructive Sleep Apnea (OSA). OSA is far more prevalent in the general population than previously believed. Diagnosis is made when loud snoring is interrupted by episodes of completely obstructed breathing. The condition can be serious and sometimes fatal if these episodes last longer than 10 seconds and occur more than seven times per hour. The cumulative effect is reduced oxygen levels to the brain, forcing the snorer to stay in a light sleep stage so that the breathing passage muscles are kept tighter. The snorer is then deprived of the rest achieved only during deep sleep and may lead to sleeplessness during the daytime hours, on the job or, worse, while at the wheel of a car. Differentiating snoring from sleep apnea begins in an ear, nose and throat physician's office where a complete head and neck examination is performed. An interview with the patient's spouse is vital at this time. Referral to the sleep evaluation centers at Condell Medical Center or Lake Forest Hospital may then be recommended to study the most accurate way to diagnose sleep apnea.

Dr. Gatti has observed that the biggest advantage to the laser treatment is that it works. An immediate reduction in snoring is common, with significant improvement usually occurring after the second session. Reports have shown that in 85 percent of patients the snoring is cured, while an additional 12 percent report a reduced level of snoring. The procedure is performed on adults over the age of 16. Some insurance companies may not reimburse for treatment of snoring as in the case for cosmetic procedures. However, surgery for this treatment of obstructive sleep apnea is most often covered. Dr. Gatti predicts that this newer laser technology will eventually supplant conventional tonsillectomies in adults because it is so much less debilitating, is quick and painless.

At Victory, every baby is a pin-up.

In the New Family Center at Victory Memorial, babies and moms get the celebrity treatment. In fact, everyone in the family feels kind of special with all the attention they get.

Our entire staff works together to make the birthing experience as smooth and relaxed as possible. We're “old hands” at it. After all, we've been delivering Lake County babies for generations. And to help you along, we offer an abundance of pre-natal programs that provide comprehensive, practical knowledge about pregnancy, childbirth and pain management. We even have sibling classes for big brother and sis.

We're proud of the many positive comments we receive.

One mom writes, “I want to commend your entire maternity staff on their superior performance. In all of my hospital stays, Victory was the most memorable...the environment was pleasant and very positive...the caring and supportive attitude of the staff made all the difference...best quality of medical care...thanks to your entire maternity staff.”

Victory's Festival of Trees has delighted thousands

Late in 1991, Waukegan's Kaye Larsen returned home from a weekend trip to Iowa full of excitement. She had visited a gala holiday fund-raiser while there, something called "The Festival of Trees." Larsen shared her excitement with "The Friends of Victory," a group of volunteer fund-raisers for Victory Memorial Hospital. The group caught her enthusiasm and soon plans for a new holiday tradition were taking place.

On the weekend before Thanksgiving, 1992, over 5,000 visitors to Midlane Country Club (Wadsworth) saw a veritable forest of festive holiday trees take root in the main ballroom. Lake County's first "Festival of Trees" was underway. That success was matched in 1993. In its first two years, the festival raised over $71,000 for the county's HealthReach Clinic. 1994's festival will take place Nov. 16 to 20 at Midlane Country Club.

The Festival of Trees features dozens of festive holiday trees and wreaths to be admired, purchased or won at raffle. The artificial trees, available in 7 1/2-ft., 6 1/2-ft. or 4 1/2-ft. sizes, are donated to the festival by area merchants and organizations. The trees are decorated by skilled designers and craftsmen. The decorated trees are staged throughout the Midlane Country Club's main ballroom, creating a delightful holiday vision for festival visitors. A unique benefit of the festival is that, following the celebration, trees are packaged and delivered fully decorated to the homes or offices of those who purchase them.

In addition to the winter wonderland of designer trees, the festival also offers a bounty of Lake County's most talented entertainers who provide amusement throughout the event. Beautiful handcrafted wreaths and holiday miniatures, perfect for decorating a home or giving as a gift, are on display and available for sale. There is also a bake shop and a gift shop.

Children delight in the festival's "Teddy Bear Brunch With Santa," which will be offered on two days this year. The brunch provides opportunities to meet Santa and Mrs. Claus, eat a hearty brunch and receive a holiday gift. In addition, special children's activities are designed to entertain young festival goers throughout the day.

The festival is truly a community event. In all, over 300 area volunteers will make this year's festival an event families will long remember. They began their planning nearly a year ago.

Proceeds from the third annual Festival of Trees will benefit the cardiac rehabilitation program expansion at Victory Memorial Hospital. As heart disease remains one of the community's most urgent healthcare concerns, the need for cardiac rehabilitation services is at an all-time high. Demand for Victory's programs has steadily increased over the last five years.

In addition to providing supervised exercise sessions to rebuild damaged heart muscle and increase a person's endurance, Victory's team also provides educational support to patients and the community.

For further information, call Bill Devore at Victory Memorial Hospital, 360-3000, ext. 5198.

County joins in WIC 20-year celebration

This year marks the 20th anniversary of the Special Supplement Food Program for Women, Infants and Children (WIC), established by Congress in 1974. In Lake County, the health department WIC Program began in 1976. "The growth of our WIC Program over the years has been simply phenomenal," said Dale Galassie, health department executive director. "Since its beginning, the program has grown from serving 700 clients to a current level of 8,000 per month."

The WIC Program provides supplemental foods such as milk, eggs, cheese, peanut butter, juice, beans and iron-fortified cereals, as well as nutrition education to pregnant and breast feeding women, infants and children younger than five years of age. Other special programs available to eligible Lake County residents through WIC include smoking cessation, breast feeding support, peer counselor training and KID FIT. "The WIC Program emphasizes the importance of nutrition and good health," added Mary Carter, director of nursing services at the health department. "Its aim is to help pregnant women have healthy babies, and to guide and educate parents on how to keep their children healthy."

To mark the 20th anniversary, the health department will be celebrating at each of its clinic sites. Currently, the WIC Program offers its services at five sites in Lake County: Lake Villa, North Chicago, Waukegan, Zion and Great Lakes. The Great Lakes site is the newest WIC clinic, having opened last August, and came about as the result of governmental collaboration between the health department and the Department of the Navy.

For more information about the Lake County Health Department WIC Program, call 360-6781.

Our doctors will see you now.

The days of waiting for a doctor are over. That's because the physicians at the Aurora Health Center are here, in Kenosha, waiting to treat you and your family.

Inside the Aurora Health Center, you'll find that our full line of primary care physicians and high-quality medical services are coupled with a certain touch of personalized, hometown care. In our diagnostic imaging laboratory, for instance, our radiologists take the time to explain every last detail regarding such procedures as CAT Scans and MRI. And soon your family can expect this same level of treatment in all specialty areas, too, including the only walk-in care center in Kenosha, a cardiac care center, and an in-house pharmacy. A wide range of health care services will be more accessible than ever. Our facility hours are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, and extended evening and weekend hours will be coming soon.

So when your family is in need of medical attention, why wait? Come to the new Aurora Health Center in Kenosha, located on Highway 50 just east of I-94. Or call 697-7000. Because the less time you spend waiting, the more time you'll spend in good health.

Motorola to offer NICASA's parent project

Motorola will offer the Parent Project of the Northern Illinois Council on Alcoholism and Substance Abuse (NICASA) to employees at corporate headquarters in Schaumburg, beginning in September.

To introduce the Parent Project to Motorola leaders from other states, staff from NICASA's Prevention Services and Parent Services are working with Motorola's International Parent Education/Child Advocacy and Work-Life departments to stage a Work and Family Life Conference on Sept. 26 and 27 at the Galvin Center in Schaumburg.

Motorola will also host the first national Parent Project facilitator training Sept. 28 through 30. Joyce Millman, NICASA's director of Parent Services, said the training will prepare prevention specialists and parent leaders from across the U.S. to market and lead the Parent Project in their communities. The training will allow the Parent Project to expand throughout the country, she said.

The project, which began in 1988 at Abbott Laboratories with an innovative project grant from the Ill. Dept. of Alcoholism and Substance Abuse (DASA), provides training to parents at the work site. Parents study such issues as communicating with their children, effective use of discipline, self-esteem and balancing work and family life.

The Parent Project last year won the Exemplary Prevention Program Award from the federal Center for Substance Abuse Prevention (CSAP), in collaboration with the National Assn. of State Alcohol and Drug Abuse Directors and its affiliate, the National Prevention Network.

Millman said the Parent Project will be offered to three groups of parents at Motorola's corporate headquarters.

"Once a week for 12 weeks, parents of preschoolers, 5- to 10-year-olds and adolescents will meet to learn parenting skills and share experiences with the colleagues who have children in the same age ranges," Millman said.

Millman praised Gail Daniels, Motorola's director of International Parent Education and Child Advocacy, for her "broad vision of corporate support for families and her thorough and enthusiastic approach to the partnership with NICASA."

New director named for treatment center at Highland Park Hospital

Theresa Lockard of Chicago was named executive director of the American Day Treatment Center at Highland Park Hospital, a psychiatric day treatment center with separate treatment programs for adolescents, adults and adults over age 60.

As the executive director of the center, Lockard is responsible for the management of the treatment team to deliver mental health and educational services to participants with emotional or psychiatric disorders, or chemical dependency issues. The treatment team includes psychiatrists, licensed therapists, psychiatric nurses, activities/recreational therapists and mental health technicians.

Lockard was promoted to executive director from director of community services at American Day, which opened its Highland Park Hospital facility in 1992. She received an MBA from

Participants needed for study

The dermatology research unit at the University of Illinois at Chicago is seeking men and women to participate in a study of a new medication for solar lentigines, or "age spots," on the forearms and face.

Volunteers must be at least 30 years old and be willing to apply the medication to their skin twice a day for up to 24 weeks.

Participation in the study will require volunteers to make a total of 11 visits to the UIC dermatology clinic over a 48-week period. Volunteers must not have used depigmenting products within the last six months and may not apply any other topical medications—either prescription or over-the-counter—during the study. Other restrictions also apply.

Leave staff alone

For several weeks now I have been silently observing the goings on between the Grayslake Library Board and the Grayslake Park District as interpreted by the citizens and the media alike. The entry in Lipservice about the so-called rudeness of the library has gone a bit too far. This has all the earmarks of a smear campaign. I had hoped that people who professed to be concerned about the well being of the taxpayers' dollars and represented themselves as intelligent would not have resorted to such tactics. They seem to have forgotten that the employees of the library are not embroiled in this conflict and should therefore be left alone.

I am shocked that this conflict has brought out the worst in people, so that they begin fabricating tales about library employees. Anyone who visits the library and uses it knows very well how friendly and helpful the library personnel are. I have lived in this town for my entire 19 years and I have always felt important there and I always feel like my needs are special when I ask for help. Please remember to wait patiently for their help. If you are a new person who has come from a larger town with a larger library. With this new tactic of media mudslinging, these people deserve a medal for maintaining a positive attitude. It is too bad that others cannot keep their level of stoicism. If you don't have anything kind to say, then do not say it at all.

Speeding kills

This is to the morons who go speeding up and down Bolles Rd in Antioch. One of these days you are going to run over someone walking on that road. I wonder if you'll even stop to check. Slow down before you kill someone.

Library mockery

I hope all you Lakeland Newspaper readers outside of Grayslake took the opportunity to ridicule us for the pathetic way we handled this library controversy. I believe we pay the second or third highest property taxes in the state and for what? We pay for the backstabbing bureaucracy called the Park District. In fact, the entire village government is based on backstabbing and finger-pointing. Mayor Carey can attest to that. She has been stalled by Marv Smith cronies ever since she took office. Back to the library. Bald-faced publicity stunts like demanding the entire library board's resignation made a mockery out of what may have been a credible protest. The treatment the board members have endured over whether or not they made the right decisions is shameful. To you morons who refuse to listen to anyone else's story but your own. It is time to take your story walking.

Library locale

This is to the individual who suggested using the empty Surgipad building in Grayslake for the sight of the new library for the interest of safety. I also live close to that building. Do you realize that a creek runs directly in back of this building? Is this not more dangerous than the Gelatin Factory property that is somewhat close to the tracks? Also, where do you get the idea that people at Motorola are such courteous drivers? When I leave in the morning, I see them speeding down the street. The owner of the Gelatin land has made a very generous offer. We should take it seriously.

Mail movement

All you elected officials in the Village of Antioch are still sleeping on the job. When you move that post office away from its rinky dink location, put it in the Globe. The Globe is empty and waiting. There is plenty of parking for anyone who wants to use it. This is better than the two or three spots you have now. We want it moved to the Globe and we want it moved now.

Like it or leave

This is addressing the woman in Lipservice who is new in Grayslake and doesn't like our fire department. I have one thing to say. The roads lead in and the roads lead out.

Ballet money is OK

This is in reference to the Round Lake Park Mayor requesting money to send her daughter to ballet school. I don't see anything wrong with it. People ask for money all the time for a child that needs money. The cheerleaders are asking for money. This girl was featured in the paper before her mother was the mayor. I am going to help this girl because she had a dream she wants to fulfill. This is regardless of whether or not her mom is the mayor. That is the daughter's dream. They have helped her for many years and realize that they may not be able to give her all she needs now. They are asking the community for a little help just like the cheerleaders are. I'm tired of people getting on her case. Give the girl a break and send her some money. See LIPSERVICE page B28

IT'S THE TALK OF THE TOWN

GET IT OFF YOUR CHEST (708) 223-8073

Lakeland
Newspapers

Cost shifting

I see the Grayslake Chamber of Commerce got the Village to pay for its recent mailing with public money. Have you noticed how the village is spending more dough now that they are getting more from the new settlers. Keep an eye on the books, Mayor Carey, so you don't get treated like putty.

Still need help

I live in Gavin School District 37. This is in response to the Lipservice call entitled 'Help the kids.' I am heartbroken and disappointed. We have a child in the school district who is handicapped. At no time did the teacher attend any of his conferences nor did she contact the parents with any concerns. The mother contacted the superintendent last summer to indicate she was quite concerned about getting no district representation or involvement in her child's schooling. She called the superintendent and was assured that everything would be handled. At the next conference there was no district involvement. The child passed away in March and the parents have received no acknowledgment about his death. They have received calls to vote for the referendum and such. When this person who said help the kids and that we are getting our money's worth regarding the superintendent, they are wrong. I'm for the unit school district. We need a new system, a new board, and a new superintendent.

Sports politicians

This is in response to the letter to the editor 'Sports politics.' I applaud you, Cathy Williams for the letter. For two years now my children have had nothing but harassment and disappointment from the Avon Township youth baseball board. My son was almost suspended for no reason other than we paid for the candy instead of doing the selling. My son was again disappointed by the board as they took into account their vicious gripes and punished these children. I would like to know when the Grayslake Park District and the Round Lake Park District will get their act together and form leagues so these children can have a good outlet in which to play ball. Must we take our children to Lake Villa and Warren and Gurnee to play decent baseball. Where is the money that they make every year. It sure is not going into the program.

Building year-round

People in Woodland School District 50 should start paying attention. The growth committee did not say they were only going to do year round school. They said they still needed to build another school and do year-round school. If they do not implement the program within the next two years, they are going to have severe overcrowding.

Pull a plow

I'm calling concerning the snow plowing of seniors driveways in Lake Villa. This is the very first thing I ever been in agreement with. I think the village board should set up a committee so there are no political ties to it, yet still help the seniors. This would be a way to help keep people busy during the winter if they don't happen to be working.

Board be gone

After reading Cathy Williams' editorial regarding the board of directors for Avon youth baseball, I think they should all be ashamed of themselves and forced to resign. They obviously do not have the best interest of the player in mind when they take away a team's game because of the alleged actions of the manager. I hope the board resigns and has nothing to do with baseball so the youth can enjoy it and it isn't simply a way for the adults to vent their anger.

Bring in the new

I agree with the person who commented about no grocery store in Mundelein. We bought our house here two years ago, moving from Mundelein. We had two Dominick's stores within 15 minutes of our house. We have been driving to Lake Zurich to shop for groceries. This is another vote for a decent new grocery store in Mundelein.

Stop horns

This is an answer to the person who called in 'Going Loony.' There is a petition going on in Antioch to stop excessive horn blowing going on with the Wisconsin Central Railroad within the village limits. Many conversations have taken place with the Wisconsin Central Rail Line. It seems the horn blowing has increased since that time. This is going on in many communities throughout the county. The trains' visits have increased from three to four times to over 20 times per day. If your night's sleep is continually disrupted by horn blowing and you are concerned about heavy freight trains going through the village at speeds of 60 miles an hour, then please sign the petition. I would also urge sending a letter to Congressman Phil Crane.

Bump speeders

I'm concerned about the speed of the motorists on Bolles Rd in Antioch. There are people walking up and down that all the time. The village or the county should slow those jerks down with a speed bump or something before someone gets hit.

Mundelein firm creates food technology for world

NEAL TUCKER
Staff Reporter

Anyone who goes to a fast food restaurant any time of day or night is looking for at least one thing—quality continuity. If you're ordering a hamburger, you want it to taste like it was just cooked, even if it has been 20 minutes.

With the technology developed by one Mundelein manufacturer, granting that wish is a much better possibility than ever before.

Carter-Hoffmann Corp., world-wide manufacturer and distributor of commercial food service equipment, just put a big feather in its cap with the development of the staging cabinet.

Although the staging cabinet has an unassuming name the technology that went into its development is not common at all. In simple terms, the unit works as a warming oven, but has the added feature of controlling the exact humidity inside.

What the customer receives in return is food that taste's like it came off the grill or out of the oven, whichever applies. Carter-Hoffmann originally developed the technology for a leading fast-food restaurant. According to company officials, the staging cabinets can store food up to 45 minutes and still assure just-cooked freshness.

This type of food storage innovation does not come by accident. Carter-Hoffmann spent seven years and over $1 million researching and developing the staging cabinet. In 1991, when the product satisfied the customers' stringent standards, all the company's efforts paid off.

Curt Plinow, vice president of engineering at Carter-Hoffmann Corp. in Mundelein, demonstrates to U.S. Representative Phil Crane the heat and humidity recovery rate of a staging cabinet, one of the 25,000 units that are now in McDonalds Restaurants Internationally. The company has developed new technologies for the food industry in hospitals, prisons, schools, institutions, and hotels.—Photo by Neal Tucker

There are now two storage cabinets in every one of the fast-food company's domestic location and in most of the franchises worldwide. The total is 25,000 and growing. The collateral benefits from the contract may be immeasurable.

The company enjoyed steady, healthy growth until 1991. Now, no less than 15 international food service franchises are looking at using the food storage technology developed by Carter-

Hoffmann. Also, company sales tripled after the project went through, allowing for an influx in revenues that are being applied back into equipment upgrades and research and development.

One such equipment upgrade is a laser tool known as the Strippet. The Strippet is a computer-guided tool that applies laser cutting technology to metal fabrication. The old hand operated machine sits to the side, on the brink of obsolescence.

Drafting tables and T-squares have also gone the way of the steam engine. Product development and design is now done on a computer screen. Actually creating a working model is more exact and streamlined because See FOOD page C2

Repaving Main Street USA Food

Entry forms are now available for The Great American Main Street Awards program. The program is cosponsored by Edward D. Jones & Co. and the National Trust for Historic Preservation's National Main Street Center in an effort to recognize the best downtown revitalization achievements in the nation.

Candidates for the program's five $5,000 awards are municipalities of all sizes that are actively working to renew their downtown business districts. Winning entries will be selected on the basis of several criteria, including:

- Active involvement by public and private sectors in the revitalization process;
- Broad-based community support for the revitalization effort;
- Overall success in boosting the downtown economy; and
- Adaptive use and preservation of key historic downtown buildings.

Without teamwork and strong community support for downtown revitalization efforts, many small towns could become ghost towns in the near future, according to Richard Moe, president of the National Trust for Historic Preservation. "Healthy downtowns are one of the most important ingredients for a successful community-development strategy. The competition in the Great American Main Street Awards program will highlight some of the most innovative of those strategies which address an increasingly critical issue for American cities and towns today," he says.

It is an issue that hits close to home for Jones, whose investment representatives (IR's) are located in more than 3,000 offices in downtowns and neighborhood commercial districts across the country. As the largest brokerage firm in the nation in terms of number of offices, Jones maintains a corporate philosophy that embraces community involvement.

"We strive to give something back to the communities that we call home," says Marc R. Lubkeman, the Antioch representative for the firm, "something of lasting value that recognizes the outstanding contributions people can make when they work together."

The Main Street Center is a program of the non-profit National Trust for Historic Preservation. Working directly with almost 900 towns and cities, the Main Street Center helps to launch and expand downtown revitalization programs that, to date, have generated an average of more than $22 in new downtown investment for every dollar the communities use to support their efforts. With this return on investment, the Main Street program is one of the most successful economic development strategies in the country.

To obtain an entry form or additional information on the Great American Main Street Award program, contact Marc R. Lubkeman at 395-5444, or call 1(800)441-2018, or write the national Main Street Center, National Trust for Historic Preservation, 1785 Massachusetts Ave., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036. Applications must be received no later than Nov. 15, 1994, to be eligible for program awards. The awards will be announced May 15, 1995, at the 1995 National Town Meeting on Main Street, to be held in Little Rock, Ark.

SRF welcomes Kemper

The Special Recreation Foundation has welcomed Kemper National Insurance Companies as a Platinum member. Kemper Co.'s $500 Corporate membership will help to ensure that the funding necessary to provide Special Olympics training programs, accessible van replacement costs and recreation and leisure programs which the Northern Ill. Special Recreation Assn. (NISRA) provides to the disabled residents of Northern Illinois will continue.

The Special Recreation Foundation is a not-for-profit corporation and was founded to ensure that the future financial needs of the NISRA would be met.

NISRA provides many leisure and recreation programs for disabled children and adults in Northern Illinois. For further information on becoming a member of the Special Recreation Foundation, or on NISRA's services, call Brian or Wendy at 815-459-0737. All contributions and membership dues are tax deductible.

From C1

the design is so accurately depicted on screen.

In 1992, co-owners Phil Hartung and Cliff Hoffmann received the prestigious Manufacturing Entrepreneur of the Year Award. The lofty honor is sponsored by no less than 'INC. Magazine', Ernst & Young, and Merrill Lynch.

Last year, the company was honored with the Foodservice Consultants Society International Award for Distinguished Development. This was a glowing accolade direct from their own customer base.

The company has expanded six times since coming to Mundelein from North Chicago in 1967 and is threatening to do so again. They have also added 155 people to the original labor force of 25. The company has a running endorsement from building consultants for hotels, schools, institutions, hospital and prisons.

In fact, it is a good bet that any stainless steel refrigeration or heating unit one may see in a hotel or school probably came from Carter-Hoffmann. Next time you go to Comiskey Park and enjoy a hot dog, you can think of Carter-Hoffmann. Their equipment is also in the new ball parks being constructed around the country.

Howard Knight, controller of Kemper National Companies, hands a $500 check to Dave Hubbard, president of the Special Recreation Foundation. The membership dues for the non-profit organization will be added to the funding necessary for Special Olympics training programs.

MURPHY ON REAL ESTATE

Terri Murphy

How to handle seller's remorse

For years you have been toying with the idea of moving out of the house and enjoying a newer home, or perhaps a different kind of lifestyle. Finally you make the moves to interview agents, stage your home for a better presentation and get it on the market.

The reality sets in as you pull in the driveway and are shocked to see a "for sale" sign in your own yard. Could this finally be happening? Confused, depressed and out of sorts, you sit yourself down to think this out a spell. "I can't believe I want to leave my home, after all the years and memories that we have had here." Yet you have discussed the move and made the decision, so why are you feeling so insecure?

Congratulations on being totally normal. Although the anticipation of relocating to a new place in a new neighborhood is exciting, leaving behind your present comfort zone can make for emotional lows. Feeling a sense of loss and discomfort are normal reactions when families relocate to new surroundings.

Displacement is caused by upsetting the habitual places we have our things. Frustration and confusion mount when you are unable to perform daily tasks like finding the right frying pan when everything is differently arranged and in unfamiliar surroundings. Concerns about how you will find new places and streets may make you worry a little. Questions arise that you are making such an important investment and wondering if you have done the right thing.

You understand on a conscious level that the home represents a product of inventory to the consumer, but it is sometimes difficult not to project your own emotional attachments and prejudices. Comments from the buying public are those made for a myriad of reasons, and should not cause insecurity and disappointment.

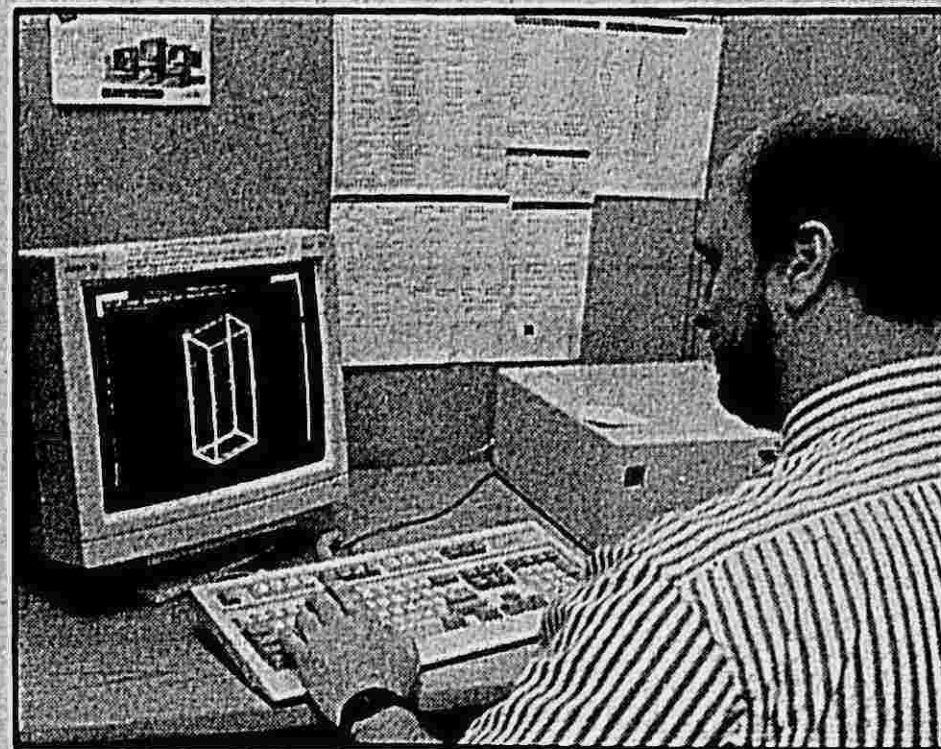

One of the most common problems we have with sellers is their inability to disconnect from their own home to be objective. When other homes that are similar in style and age sell before theirs, they have difficulty understanding why the buyer chose the other property. The things that make your home attractive to you may not be appreciated or needed by the new buyer.

Although "extras" do support a stronger price, these items will only be important to the buyer some of the time. Upgraded faucets or decking are nice to have, but generally won't be the singular reason for a purchase. The buyers tend to buy when "feeling" right about a property and back the decision up later after making the emotional commitment first. The extra touches tend to reinforce the decision to purchase, rather than create the impulse to buy. Arguing that fencing and decking and other improvements should have made the difference in similar housing doesn't make the buyer's decision wrong, but right for them.

A good sales agent will help you "stage" your home for maximum appeal. This might require your packing up and taking down photos, and mementos that you are quite used to seeing on a daily basis. Your home may appear stark and severe to you without these accents. Just remember that you must live in your home one way, and offer it as a product quite another.

You can help make the moving transition more comfortable by keeping your focus on your new home. Get familiar with the new area by meeting some of the neighbors before moving in. Familiarize yourself with the new streets and shopping areas so that you won't feel lost and uncertain. If the area is quite a distance from your present home, have the agent take some photos of the new schools for the kids and some good photos of your new home to keep you focused. Give yourself a few days to settle in after the move, relax and enjoy your new home.

Questions or comments may be directed to Terri Murphy, Box 6234, Libertyville, IL 60048.

Griefnotes

all taken care of...

When a death occurs, many decisions have to be made for a funeral and burial. And they're all part of a seemingly endless number of things that need attention. Rather than leaving these decisions to your family, you can take care of them ahead of time with Forethought funeral planning.

Then, when the time comes, a single call to the funeral home should be all that's needed to put the process in motion.

How To Survive
The Job Search
By Nancy Sakol

G: Dear...Search: A few weeks ago I was involved in a down-sizing within the company I worked for for two-and-a-half years. While I believe my skills are marketable, I registered with an employment agency the day following my termination, only to have never heard from them again. My friend, who was staying with me from California at the time, was there to greet me after my interview and said that she was stunned at how I dressed for an initial interview with the agency I applied with. I told her that I felt that it didn't matter that I went in wearing shorts and a tee-shirt. My skills speak for themselves. She told me that she felt I should have made a better impression to these people by dressing for the interview if for nothing other, than to let them know that I take the work search process seriously. I say it has no bearing on it. People should take you for what you are. Who's right? B.R. - Wauconda

A: Dear B.R. First impressions mean so much! It is important to be sure that your first meeting with anyone involved in your employment security recognizes your drive, ambition and just basically how serious you are taking the job search. For instance, take two individuals vying for the same highly visible position as a customer support specialist paying in the mid-20's, both individuals have similar backgrounds and longevity, one is dressed in a suit and well put-together in that they could basically walk into the position today and fit in...vs...the individual showing for the same interview dressed in shorts, a tee-shirt, sneakers and looking as though they have way too many things to do today but hey...it'll pop in and see if I can get a job, too! These processes of employment are the same whether you are applying with an employment service or the company itself...The impression you make for yourself is crucial to the hiring process. An employment agency acts as an agent for client companies seeking qualified candidates. While the term "qualified" is a word that one can interpret as meaning qualified to do the job, it may be questionable to the interviewer as to whether or not you would take your job seriously if you did not show any effort in taking the interviewing process seriously. You also make mention that you have never heard from the employment service again...what you failed to mention is whether or not you have ever tried to reach them. The fact that you may (by your attire) have given the impression of not being serious or eager to find a job, coupled with the fact that you have not called to check in with them, could truly leave one to believe that you are not anxious or willing to put out any effort yourself. Try giving them a call, and this time show some effort in the way that you present yourself.

Note: Nancy Sakol is a licensed personnel professional and President of Superior Personnel in Gurnee. Letters can be sent to Nancy at 5101 Washington St., Gurnee, IL 60031.

MURRAY

If you are looking for a contemporary floor plan that will sit on a sloping lot, the two-story Murray will fit the bill. Designed with the master suite on the first floor, and the rest of the sleeping quarters on the second floor, the Murray offers a solution to couples who like their privacy, but have older children at home who also need a certain amount of independence.

The gathering place on the lower level is the dining room/living room area. Whether savoring a quiet meal, watching television, or enjoying conversation with friends, the centrally located fireplace spreads warmth throughout. When the sun is shining, take the barbecue and lounge chairs out on the back deck. Attractive deck railing stretches the entire length of the house.

The walk-through kitchen, complete with built-ins, will please the cook in the family. Meals can be easily served in the adjacent dining room, or taken upstairs to the family/recreation room.

A handy utility room and the isolated master suite complete the first floor layout. The spacious master suite has abundant closet space and the convenience of an adjoining bathroom.

For households with teenage children, the upper floor configuration will work well. Here the decibel level of the record player won't disturb those on the lower floor. Two good-sized bedrooms, each with ample closet space, are on either end. A huge family/recreation room occupies the center of the top floor. Put in a big screen television, a couch and a couple of chairs, a ping-pong table, and let the fun begin. For the empty nesters, the two bedrooms could be converted into a home office, sewing room, or whatever.

Beneath the first floor is a 905 square foot unfinished basement.

For a study kit of the MURRAY (402-09), send $9.00, to Landmark Designs, P.O. Box 2307-LP60, Eugene, OR 97402 (Be sure to specify plan name & number). For a collection of plan books featuring Landmark's most popular home plans, send $20 to Landmark.

Crystal ball picks Grant, Stevenson to win league titles

Who will be the early-season "bandwagon team"?

Which schools will make October interesting, while others strive for a .500 season?

Are there any sophomores out there ready to make big contributions?

And how about those playoffs? Will the Northwest Suburban Conference champ again have only five wins?

Those questions and more will begin to be settled when Football '94 commences. As in the case of Football in the 1990s, all except one area team will open under the lights.

One thing fans should watch for is extra-curricular activities along the sidelines. There should be little if any. Referees have been given marching orders to stop any potential for the violence which has marred the college game.

"When I was in the East Suburban Conference, they were pretty strict about it. One ejection and you are gone for the next game," Grayslake Coach Dan Dillon said.

"I think they are reemphasizing it," Carmel Coach Mike Fitzgibbons said.

Also under the watchful eye of the officials will be post-TD or big play celebrations by players.

Anyway, here are some thoughts as the 1994 curtain begins to unfold:

Grant gets our pick as repeat

NWSC champions. Dave Stone returns with his 697 yard season last year under his belt. Dave Jackstus gets the call at QB. Prediction: Grant even wins a non-conference game or two in a 7-2 regular season.

Marian Central missed the playoffs by only a few playoff points and Rob Listka, star running back, is ready to lead the Hurricanes back to contention. Marian Central is another close call, 5-4.

Round Lake is under the direction of new coach Kevin Dempsey. Players to watch include: Ray Muellemann and Jay Buchannon at quarterback and a surprise at practice, tight end Chris Passamore. Panthers have a 3-6 year for their new mentor.

Grayslake is led by line play of Steve Swanson, 6-foot-2 inch, 235 pounder and Kyle Redmer, 6-3, 245. They will be blocking holes along with other powerhouses for QB Lance Pallo. Rams win two games this year.

Wauconda will be led by juniors this year, including line-backer Mike Seitz and running Clayton Beyers. If the Bulldogs mature during the season, they should improve upon last year's 2-7 record.

Johnsburg: Coach Ralph Young should be able to use his varied experiences in college and high school coaching for a respectable 3-6 season at JHS.

Action begins Aug. 26 with NWSC teams striving to improve on last year's 4-21 record against non-conference foes. The North Suburban Conference was 4-5, the East Suburban Catholic Conference .500 at 10-10.

In the mighty North Suburban Conference, the championship game could very well be played this weekend as Stevenson hosts Zion-Benton. The two powerhouses are expected to be the top two contenders in the NSC.

Stevenson gets our pick to edge Zion in the season opener, thus the NSC crown. Stevenson's depth and five years of playoff experience are no match for the other NSC teams. The Patriots can go undefeated.

Popp makes all-decade team

Eight former Eastern Illinois University football Panthers were honored by their selection to the Gateway Conference All-Decade Team.

These include former Libertyville lineman Dave Popp, who made the honorable mention list.

Popp played for EIU from 1985-88. He was a two-year starter, Associated Press Honorable Mention All-American (1988) and All-Gateway first team (1988) and honorable mention (1988).

EIU had four first-team picks. These included: wide receiver Roy Banks from Detroit; offensive lineman Brad Fichtel from Oswego; defensive lineman John Jurkovic from Calumet City and defensive back John Lance from Cuba, Ill.

Joining Popp as an honorable mention team member are: quarterback Sean Payton, from Naperville; running back Jamie Jones from Kevil, Ky.; and defensive back Daryl Holcombe, from Fort Lauderdale.

The All-Decade team, announced by Gateway to kickoff its 10th anniversary, was chosen by a vote of coaches, sports information directors and media.

Two budding football stars don long hair

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

They're tough as nails and they love to tackle. They have the qualities coaches look for in football players.

Meet Amanda Keenum and Jillian Scruggs. That's right, Amanda and Jillian. They're two young girls who are not letting their gender get in the way of playing out on the gridiron.

Amanda, 10, will be playing for the Grayslake Colts Junior Football Pee Wee (under 80 lbs.) team this fall, while Jillian, 7, will be playing for the Grayslake Bantam (under 70 lbs.) team.

With the helmets and all the gear, one would not be able to differentiate who was a girl or who was a boy out on the field. Skill-wise Amanda and Jillian are just as strong as their male counterparts and maybe even a little faster.

"You should see this kid hit. She's not afraid of anybody," said Amanda's coach George Gallagher.

Last year, Amanda was a cheerleader for her brother's feather-weight team. This year, she decided to trade in her pom poms for shoulder pads.

Amanda set the tone early when she walked onto the field for the first day of practice. Some of the boys were razzing her, and she just stepped up and told them off:

"I can play just as good or better than any of you boys."

She's right. She could stick 'em with the best of them.

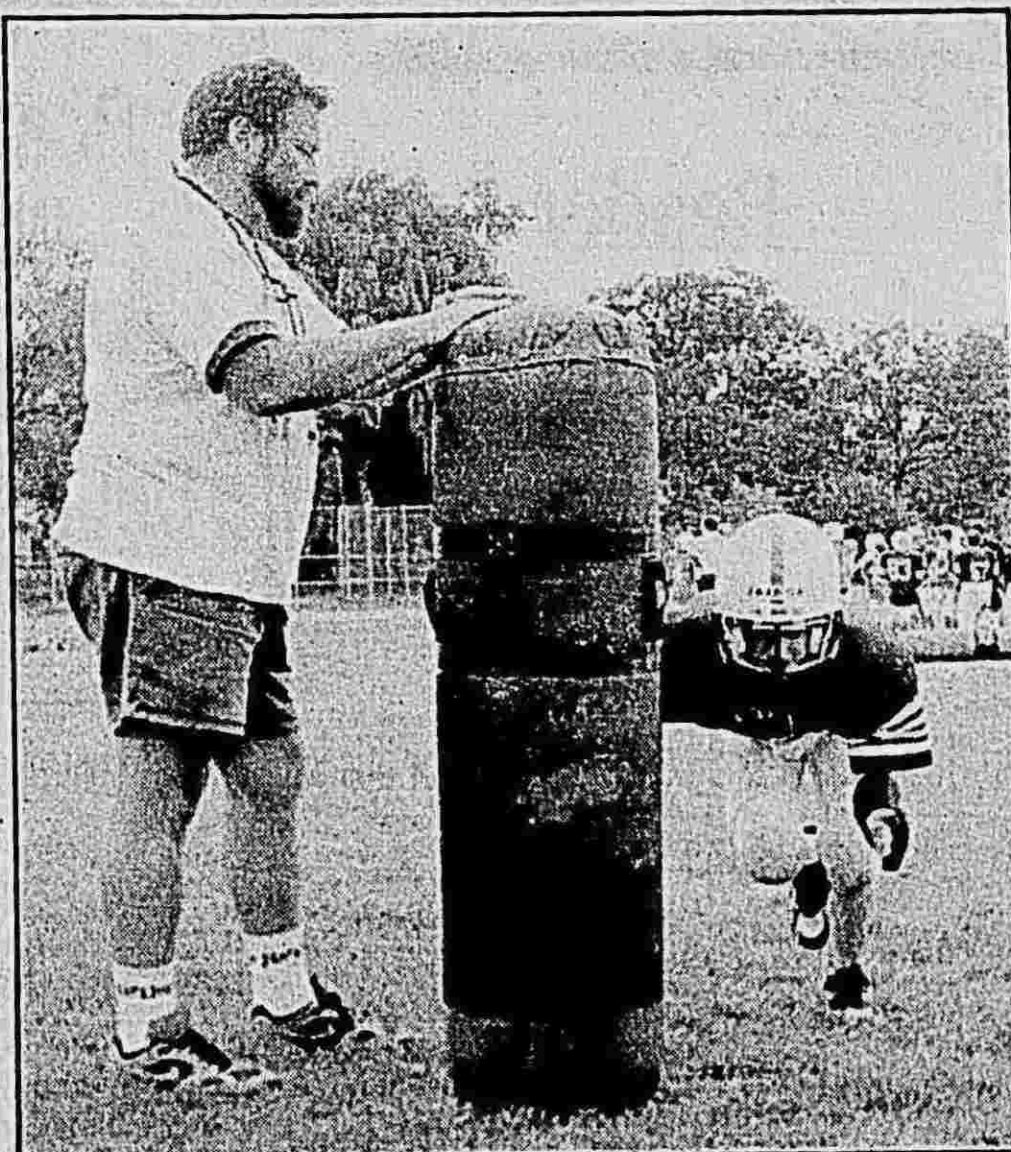

Amanda's mother, Linda Keenum backs her daughter 100 percent. Keenum said Amanda's father also thinks it's great his daughter is playing football.

"I don't see anything wrong with a girl playing football as long as they hold their own," Keenum said. See GIRLS page C20

Knights answer critics with comeback in opener

STEVE PETERSON

Staff Reporter

Several key Lake County Knights semi-pro football players defied the so-called experts who earlier doubted their abilities.

Sam Toia was too old, at age 38, to play quarterback for the Chicago Chargers.

Dan Halverson participated in tryouts for Arena Football League and a CFL team but is back with the Knights.

Airlee Williams wanted an extension of Division I football caliber type play.

In a game which the score resembled at times a baseball game when there is no major league baseball, the Knights emerged with a comeback 10-8 win over the Chargers Sunday in Chicago Football League action.

Airlee Williams, a graduate of Waukegan West, provided the difference, catching a 25-yard TD pass from Toia with just over seven minutes left.

"The reverse side was open and I got some great blocks from Halverson and John Burns," Williams said.

Williams had his success at Alcorn State, where his best team finished 9-3. "This is a lot like Division I football," he said. Williams likes working with the likes of veteran QB Toia.

"Sam is the smartest person I have know in football," Williams said.

Halverson was Mr. Versatility for the Knights this day. He along with Burns and Dennis Lane switched from defense to offense to play the line and go both ways. He scored a safety when he stopped a running back in the end zone and even kicked off.

"Putting Halverson, Burns and Lane in there was a big difference. See KNIGHTS page C20

Vikings aiming to reach Knights over .500 mark at home

The defense stayed its "Purple Haze" usual effective self while the offense took strides as the Lake County Vikings evened its semi-pro football record with a 21-8 win over the Indiana Renegades.

"We are starting to come together as a unified team," Coach Kurt Kampendahl said.

The Vikings (1-1) scored on a special teams play, a 7-yard run and a 5-yard pass play. The team continued to use to signal callers, Chris Hare and Wes Quist. That system may be used again when the Vikings host the Broncos Aug. 27 at Round Lake High. Game time is 6 p.m.

Gary Griffen scored the first TD, a 55-yard punt return for a 6-0 lead in the second period. Keith Richter added the first of his three extra points.

"We had a nice wall. He almost broke one in our exhibition game against them," Kampendahl said of Griffen.

Chris Tavajian, a Warren Township High School grad, scored the second TD after Indiana (0-2) had gone ahead 8-7 in the third quarter game. He scampered home from 7-yards out in the fourth quarter.

"Chris is a very good, solid runner who is able to read blocks," Kampendahl said.

Rick Starosta caught the TD pass, a 5-yarder from Hare. "That definitely sealed the win," Kampendahl said.

Mike Baldwin keyed the defense with two interceptions.

Upcoming games: Sept. 3 at Broncos at Gately Stadium, 9 a.m.; Sept. 10, at Racine at Horlick Stadium, 7 p.m.; Sept. 17: bye.

Nostalgia weekend at race track

Drag racers that raced in the '50s, '60s and '70s with their muscle cars of yesteryear return to the Great Lakes Dragway for their annual reunion Aug. 20 at 7 p.m. and Aug. 21 at 2 p.m.

1960 Vintage front engine nitro-burning dragsters, wheelstanders and jetrockets will also be racing both days.

Heading the list of top name drivers will be Drag Racing Hall of Famers "Dyno" Don Nicholson of Atlanta, Ga.; Arlen Vanke from Akron, Ohio; and Arnie "the Farmer" Beswick of Morrison, Ill.

This is also the 17th annual Veterans Show and Drag Race Weekend at Great Lakes Dragway.

Regular weekly points racing for "Super Pro" and "Pro Street" drivers and motorcycle riders are set for 8 p.m. Saturday and 3 p.m. Sunday.

Girls

Jillian is a little younger than Amanda but is just as tough.

"I like to kick, and I like to run and tackle people," Jillian said. "It's fun to tackle boys."

You can say football runs in Jill's family. Her older sister, Christina, played for the Colts' featherweight team in 1984. Christina later became prom queen at Grayslake High School. Christina is now 21 years old and is a member of the U.S. Marine Corps.

"She was prom queen and then went into the Marines a week later," said Louise Scruggs, mother of Jillian and Christina.

And Mrs. Scruggs supports her daughter 100 percent, as Jillian pointed out:

"My mom doesn't let me miss practice."

Amanda and Jillian are not the first girls to play for the Grayslake Colts Junior Football League, and they probably won't be the last.

In fact their opponents from Zion, Waukegan and Libertyville, for example, probably won't know they were tackled by girls until the end of the game when all the players take off their helmets to shake hands. That's when the girls' hair falls below shoulder length and when the boys' mouths gape with astonishment.

tention, trailing 8-2. Randy Jones added another safety within the first two minutes of the fourth when he tackled the punter for an 8-4 Chargers lead.

Both teams had the turnover bug-a-boo in the opener, totaling 10. Burns had an interception for the Knights at first half's closing minutes.

Coach Al Clark knows his offense must improve before the next assignment, Aug. 27 at Hansen Stadium against the South Side Hitmen. Game time is 3 p.m.

"I was scared to death. The defense did an outstanding job. Nothing they do surprises me," Clark said.

He praised Halverson, who calls the defense from his linebacker spot.

"Lane is the best defensive lineman in the league. His experience showed in the last series," Clark said.

"But if you want to talk about the defense, you have to talk about all of them," Clark said.

Facing a QB who threw some 70 plus percent of the time, the only mistake came on a 47-yard TD pass in the game's opening minutes, seconds after the Knights had stopped two passes.

Offensively, the Knights went to Nate Body and the shot gun offense in the second half. Body gained a hard-earned 22 yards, 18 to set up the TD on a pair of 9-yard runs.

"Read It & Reap" Contest!

YOU may be chosen as the recipient of $50, compliments of Lakeland Newspapers. Each week, we will be publishing the i.d. numbers of two readers in Lakeland Newspapers. If your reader i.d. number appears, you have until Wednesday of the following week to call Lakeland Newspapers and claim your prize. (Winners will have two weeks after the contact date to pick up their prize.) Current subscribers may find their i.d. number on the mailing label affixed to the front page of the paper, like this....

Prediction

Zion-Benton will certainly have a banner year with a 7-2 record, especially with explosive running back Kiki Curry. He will wreak havoc on opposing defenses.

Antioch's hard-hitting and skilled defense will carry the team this season. At 6'4", defensive back Dan Newcomb will prevent any passes from reaching intended receivers. He may have to pull double duties as a receiver himself to help the Sequoit offense. Antioch goes 6-3, or 7-2 with a win over Lake Forest.

Libertyville will have a difficult time defending the NSC crown. The Wildcats will have to adjust to new coach Randy Kuceyeski, as well as five other new coaches. With Chris Fulbright at quarterback, anything is possible. He is the best in the conference, and he is only a junior. Libertyville finishes a respectable 5-4 under a new coaching staff.

Warren is rebuilding. The junior-dominated team will be looking for leadership from seniors Ryan Kelter at quarterback, Zach Florio at running back and Joe Hernandez on both lines. Warren goes 4-5. Next year will be the Blue Devils' year.

Mundelein can only improve after last year's winless season. A coaching change will help the Mustangs garner three wins. New coach John Ahlgrim brings enthusiasm to the program. Running back D. J. Johnson and tight end Doug Healy can spark new life into the Mustang offense.

Elsewhere, Carmel is trying to make it back to the playoffs for the third straight year. QB is J.R. O'Campo with Nick Yeager using his versatility behind the QB. Mike Ori, 6-1, 255, is a returning starter. Carmel has another 6-3 finish.

Lake Zurich has 11 starters returning who will give the Bears a winning season in the competitive Fox Valley Conference. All-Conference running back Mike Schadek and linebacker Cory Sherman will lead the offense and defense.

Richmond: Paul Jastrab and Brian Ford will pound open holes on the line. Rockets reverse last year's 4-5.

O'Campo-Yeager duo spells t-r-o-u-b-l-e for defenses

Carmel's Dan Graham, wearing No. 84, smacked his head against his helmet in frustration following a 28-14 loss in the Class 4A playoffs to Cary-Grove.

Today, Graham leads a talented bunch of Carmel players ready to make another run for the playoffs. Carmel begins that march Aug. 26 at 7:30 p.m. against Notre Dame in Niles.

To that end of another playoff bid, Carmel has been rededicating itself in pre-season work.

"We had more of a turnout than ever before," quarterback J. R. O'Campo said.

O'Campo, a senior, gets the call ahead of Nick Yeager, who finished the season and led Carmel to a 6-4 record.

"It was a real tough decision. Yeager will play ace back because he is multi-dimensional. Yeager is a lot more seasoned this year," Fitzgibbons said.

Looking to lineup in the same backfield with Yeager and O'Campo are: Tim Curry, a senior and Rubin Rivera.

The line is a questionmark, the

Graham, Pat Craft and Mark Connelly return.

Jason Harper, a 5-9, 185 pound senior, is at nose guard. Paul Catanese, a 5-10, 180 pound senior, has been a surprise.

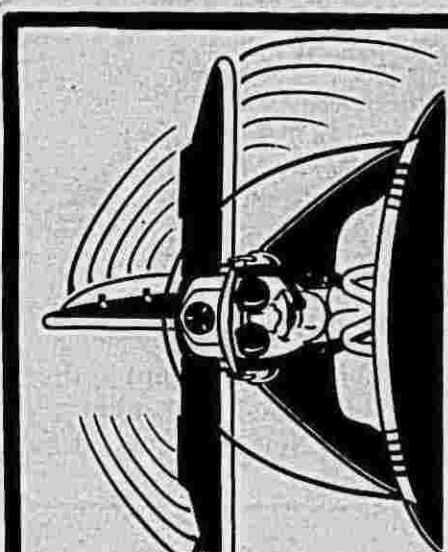

Matt Marlow will do the kicking and extra points and Yeager the punting chores.

Carmel finished 6-4 last year, but 5-2 in the rugged - with a capital R - East Suburban Catholic Conference.

"We need to win early to establish confidence. The league has three teams in the area top 20," Fitzgibbons said.

Four clubs made the playoffs last year.
